RURAL SCHOOL DATE AUG. 30

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT URGES OPENING THEN.

SUGGESTS CLEAN-UP

A Coat of Paint An Economy and Makes Building More Attractive, Says Somerville.

Most of the town and consolidated schools of Nodaway County will open on Monday, August 30, according to a letter sent out today to all district clerks by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent.

Mr. Somerville recommends in his letter that the rural schools also open at that time. He makes a number of other suggestions, as follows:

"In order that all pupils be prepared for the examination, it is important that they follow the course of study with uniformity, which necessitates beginning at the same time. If you have not secured a teacher, notify us and we shall be glad to assist you.

"The board should do all repairing of the buildings, outbuildings, papering and painting at this time. It is a matter of economy to keep the school house and outbuildings painted and adds much to their appearance. I am pleased to report that most all of the school buildings have the name and number of the district placed upon them so that it is easily read from the road. If the walls are dingy and dirty by all means paper, paint or give them a coat of alabastine, which costs almost nothing but cleans the walls and gives them a good tint. If you will call at my office you may see card giving color scheme for this work as suggested by the state department. This is one of the requirements for approved schools. The desks should be cleaned out, washed and perhaps varnished.

"If you have not installed the sanitary pit type toilets at your schools, I am very anxious that you consider this in your fall improvements. This is very necessary for the health of your children.

"By all means see that your well is cleaned out and the water made perfectly pure and wholesome. Poor water means sickness and often death.

"We dare not risk the lives of the children for a few dollars.

"Unless your well is where the children can drink at the pump, a water jar with a faucet must be provided. I hope, too, that your school can install a modern heating and ventilating plant this year unless you already have one.

"Please do not order books and supplies from agents, for you or your teacher can order them at a saving of 50 to 100 per cent."

D. A. Caldwell to Take Course at Northwestern

Will Enroll For Two-Weeks Special Instruction For Commercial Secretaries and Trade Executives.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell will leave today for Chicago. Mr. Caldwell will enroll in Northwestern University for a two-weeks special course for commercial secretaries and trade executives. This is the third year that Mr. Caldwell has taken a course at Northwestern. About 300 secretaries from various parts of the United States and Canada will be enrolled in this class this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell are making the trip in their automobile.

Carroll County Wheat Elevator Is Destroyed

Carrollton, Aug 14.—Lightning struck an elevator at Palemon, five miles west of here, last night, destroying the building and 10,000 bushels of wheat. The building and grain were owned by the Farmers Grain and Supply Co., and represented a loss of $20,000, which was covered by insurance. The elevator was situated in the heart of Carroll County's wheat district.

Bus to Make Trip to St. Joe Sunday A. M.

The Hastings bus will begin tomorrow a special Sunday morning service to and from St. Joseph. The bus will leave Maryville at 7:30 a. m., arriving in St. Joseph about 9:30 o'clock. The bus will then leave St. Joseph at 10 a. m., arriving in Maryville at noon. This service is in addition to the regular schedule and will be maintained every Sunday.

Reorganization of Dry Force Started

General Lincoln C. Andrews, Prohibition Chief, Back From England, To Have New Division.

Washington, Aug. 14.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition chief, today began the new reorganization of the federal prohibition service. In the first day at his office since returning from England where he completed an anti-smuggling agreement with Great Britain, Andrews set the machinery in motion for the establishment of a division of foreign control within the department.

If Secretary of State Kellogg approves, Harry J. Anslinger, American consul in the Bahama Islands, will take over the new post in addition to his regular diplomatic duties.

BLAGG HEADS FURNITURE CO.

BUYS INTEREST OF ROLAND WRAY IN FIRM HERE.

CHANGE SEPTEMBER 1

Concern Will Be Known as Cummins-Blagg Furniture Co.—Cummins in Business Here 15 Years.

Dean Blagg, an employe of the Cummins-Wray Furniture Co. for the last four years, has purchased the interest of Roland Wray and after September 1, the firm will be known as the Cummins-Blagg Furniture Co., it was announced today.

Mr. Blagg will become president of the new concern. He is a native of Nodaway County and attended the State Teachers College here for two years.

May 1, Mr. Wray took a position as traveling salesman for the Orchard-Wilhelm Furniture of Omaha, Neb. He had been in the furniture business here for four years. Mr. and Mrs. Wray have not definitely decided when they will move to Omaha.

Mr. Cummins has been in the furniture business here for fifteen years. For the first three years he was employed at the Maryville Furniture Co. of which J. E. Bailey was manager. Mr. Cummins then bought an interest in the store and in 1920 he became a partner, the firm being known as the Bailey-Cummins Furniture Co.

In 1922, Mr. Wray bought Mr. Bailey's interest in the store and the firm name was changed to Cummins-Wray Furniture Co.

Eph S. Smith Writes From Oklahoma Home

Former Maryville Resident Left Here in 1886, Then Founded Town of Sparta.

Judge I. K. Alderman has received a letter from Eph S. Smith of Mutual, Okla., who formerly resided in Maryville and left here in 1886. In his letter, Mr. Smith said he was sexton of the M. E. Church here for several years. He also used to help Thomas Clark sell candies, peanuts, etc., at picnics.

His letter in part follows:

"About 1886 we moved from Maryville to St. Joseph and went into the general mercantile business, and in 1898 we sold out and went out to Santa Monica, Cal., for a pleasant visit. After a few months we returned and later located in Dewey County, Oklahoma, and filed on 160 acres about six miles southeast of Vici, built a house and opened up a store and started a postoffice called Sparta and did a good business for about twleve year, when a man here at Mutual got us to close up the postoffice and sell out, bringing the balance to the 'Mutual Cash Store.' We moved here in 1912 or 1913 and bought a fine large house and some lots. We still own our farm and rent it for cash rent every year. My wife is in poor health, suffers with rheumatism. I guess you remember my wife used to be Mrs. Rebecca J. Williams of Northwest Maryville, near Nic Crider and Tom Martin.

"I am a member of the Mutual M. E. Church and am now 74 years old. Well, write and tell us how things are going at Maryville."

Fifteen Will Take Civil Service Exam.

Fifteen applications have been filed with Eldon Irvin at the Maryville postoffice to take the civil service examination for clerk-carrier here next Saturday. The place of the examination will be announced later.

BANK SECRECY IS RULED OUT

GENTRY ORDERS VEIL LIFTED FROM FAILURES.

IN ENGLEWOOD CASE

Despite Ruling, Finance Commissioner Refuses Further Information on Becker Bank.

Jefferson City, Aug. 14.—Secretary of State Charles U. Becker today said he welcomed the audit of the motor vehicle fund, which was ordered by Governor Baker.

"I am glad the governor has directed the state auditor to audit the funds of the automobile department," said Becker. "I welcome the audit and will give the complete assistance of my office to the work."

State Auditor L. D. Thompson is expected to begin the audit next week. He held a conference today with Governor Sam Baker.

Jefferson City, Aug. 14.—It is not necessary to keep secret the affairs of a closed bank which is in process of liquidation, Attorney-General Gentry held in an opinion today.

The opinion was handed down to C. E. French, commissioner of finance, who had requested the ruling with regard to investigation of the closed Citizens Security Bank at Englewood.

Following charges that St Louis Republican politicians borrowed money from the Englewood bank without proper authority, French started an investigation. Amendments to the statute concerning the secrecy of the affairs of banking institutions were not intended to apply to closed banks, Gentry ruled.

The secrecy ruling has hitherto been considered as applying to all but banks closed when criminal charges have been brought against officers of the institution. French today, despite the ruling, gave out to newspapermen no further information concerning affairs at the Englewood bank. He said he would file on Monday or Tuesday in Independence an inventory of the bank's assets.

Livingston Primary Costs $1.10 a Vote

According to the Chillicothe Constitution, the primary election in Livingston County cost the county $1.10 for each vote cast on Aug. 3. The expenses of the election were estimated at $3,000, with the total number of votes cast as 2,650. Less than one-fourth of the votes of that county were cast at the primary.

As printed in yesterday's Democrat-Forum, the primary election in Nodaway County cost 61 cents for each vote cast.

Nodaway County Wins Picture at University

A handsome picture of the University of Missouri's cherished columns adorns the office of Leslie G. Somerville, as the result of an award made recently at the annual men's dinner at the summer term of the University.

The picture was offered to the county ranking highest when its number of students at the University was multiplied by the distance of the county from Columbia. Nodaway County was the winner, and the picture was put in the care of the county superintendent.

No New Showing of Oil at Quitman Well

Seepage at 1,300-Foot Level Continues, However.—Drill Down 1,475 Feet This Afternoon.

Drilling at the test well of the Quitman Oil and Gas Co. continued today with no new showing of oil, but with traces still visible from the 1,300-foot depth, according to G. H. Rose, drilling contractor.

At noon today the drill was in limestone at 1,468 feet. Shortly afterwards it again entered a black shale and at 3 o'clock was down 1,475 feet.

The water brought up in the baler this morning continued to show the rainbow glints caused by oil seepage into a nine-foot sand between 1,300 and 1,309, Raymond Rose, son of the contractor and a member of the midnight-to-noon shift, said.

"At this depth, the oil in this well is not in paying quantities, but it is somewhere on the structure," the younger Rose declared.

W. L. Mapel to Direct Publicity at College

Member of Democrat-Forum and Tribune News Staff to Be Succeeded by Townsend Godsey.

William L. Mapel, reporter and sports writer for the Democrat-Forum since last October, has resigned to become director of publicity for the State Teachers College, succeeding Merle E. Seleeman, who will enter the Medill School of Journalism at Chicago, a department of Northwestern University.

Mr. Mapel will assume his new duties Monday. He is himself a former student of the State Teachers College and a graduate of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri. He began his career on the Democrat-Forum several years ago and also has been news editor of the Edina Sentinel at Edina, Mo.

Mr. Mapel's place on the Democrat-Forum and Tribune will be taken by Townsend Godsey, formerly employed with the Maryville Tribune, the St. Joseph News-Press, the Daily News of Miami, Fla., and the Tropic Magazine.

LIQUOR IN CAR; THREE IN JAIL

DEPUTY SHERIFF AT ELMO MAKES ARRESTS.

TWO FROM ST. JOSEPH

John Daniels, 64-Year-Old Farmer, And Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Duncan Compose Party.

John Daniels, 64-year-old farmer near Elmo, and Mr. and Mrs. K. V. Duncan, a St. Joseph couple he is said to have engaged to work for him, were arrested at Elmo last night by O. B. Nuckolls, deputy sheriff there, and are in the county jail today awaiting arraignment on liquor charges.

Daniels and the younger couple are supposed to have been on their way from St. Joseph to the Daniels farm, and they stopped in Elmo to repair a punctured tire. Daniels appeared to be very drunk, while the younger man and his wife were not.

Deputy Sheriff Nuckolls looked into the car and saw a quart bottle of what he believed to be corn whiskey. He took charge immediately and made further search, which revealed three more pints of the liquid in the suitcase of the St. Joseph couple. The sheriff then brought the entire party to the county jail.

Cars Smash in Fog; Pleas Griffey Hurt

Man Living Near Maryville Unable to See Roadster Parked Partially on Pavement North of Town.

Pleas Griffey, living five miles northwest of Maryville, was slightly scratched about 8 o'clock this morning when his Ford roadster smashed into another on the paving north of Maryville.

Mr. Griffey was going to his home and the fog made it difficult for him to see clearly. The other car was parked partially on the pavement. Mr. Griffey's car struck it, and both automobiles went down the embankment.

The owner of the other car is not yet known.

Clearmont Minister at Baptist Church

The Rev. W. W. Laughlin, pastor of the Baptist Church at Clearmont, will preach at the Baptist Church here at the Sunday morning service. Sunday school begins at 9:30 o'clock and the preaching service at 11. At night the congregation will join in the union services at this church.

Judge Dawson to Go to Atchison County

Judge John M. Dawson will go to Rock Port Monday to open Circuit Court for Atchison County. The docket there is loaded with thirty-nine criminal, nine divorce, ten parole, sixty-seven civil and fifty-five equity cases. The next term of court in Maryville convenes in October.

Miss Hazel Clark will leave tomorrow morning for a ten day's vacation visit in Kansas City, where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hawkins and relatives. Mrs. Hawkins was the former Miss Hazel Pope of Maryville.

AGITATION IS FUTILE, BURTON

SAYS EUROPEAN COUNTRIES ARE GAINING NOTHING

IS SURVEYING EUROPE

Senator denies Report That He Is in Old Country to Discuss Financial Questions With Governments.

London, Aug. 14.—The agitation in the European countries for revision of the debt agreements with the United States will accomplish nothing to their benefit and will only result in hardening American opinion against more lenient terms which have been granted some debtors, according to Congressman Theodore Burton, Republican of Ohio, member of the American debt commission, who arrived here today en route to Geneva.

The chief reason for Burton's presence in Europe is to attend a meeting of the Inter-Parliamentary Union but he is also making a survey of European political and economic conditions. Burton's arrival in London immediately gave rise to reports that he had been commissioned by President Coolidge to discuss the financial question with the representatives of the British and French governments. These reports were immediately denied by Burton who pointed out that the work of the American debt commission as completed as agreements for the settlement of all debts, except that of Greece, have been concluded, approved by the President and sent to Congress for ratification.

Court Orders Made for Hopkins Bank

Sale of Certain Personal Property Is Approved and Compromise Made In One Debt.

A short session of circuit court was held this afternoon with Judge John M. Dawson on the bench. A petition for the sale of some personal property of the Bank of Hopkins was approved and an application to compound doubtful debt of that bank was sustained.

The petition for the sale of certain personal property stated that on July 3, 1926, C. E. Donlin, deceased, then cashier, made a bill of sale conveying to the bank an undivided one-half interest in certain live stock and implements. The deputy commissioner, Frank H. Barrett, made a voluntary partition of the live stock and implements with Wm. Nicola, the owner of the other undivided one-half interest. The property was sold, subject to approval by the court, and brought $960.86, the live stock and implements bringing $851.50 and the oats and corn $109.36.

In the petition to compound doubtful debt, it was stated that J. F. Preeo had a note for $866.40, dated April 4, 1925, due in one year at the Bank of Hopkins, and that it was impossible to collect the note in full. Preeo and his wife are employed at the State Hospital at Clarinda, Ia., at $90 a month and claimed to have a valid existing agreement with said bank by which the amount of note was to be reduced to $450. In view of the circumstances, a contract by Frank H. Barrett, deputy commissioner, with Preeo and his wife, provides for a payment of $500 in ten monthly installments of $50 a month.

Mrs. Vina F. Bailey Files Divorce Suit

A divorce suit was filed this afternoon by Vina F. Bailey against Dale Bailey. The petition alleges failure to provide and states they were married at Council Bluffs, Ia., on February 13, 1917, and lived together until Oct. 5, 1925.

Miss Alice Ralston of Ravenwood, who underwent a tonsil and adenoid operation at St. Francis hospital Thursday morning, is now at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hays where she is recuperating.

On Vacation Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Butts left this afternoon on a two weeks' vacation trip. They will attend a reunion of Mrs. Butts' family at Whitesville tomorrow. After a several days' visit in Kansas City, where they will go Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Butts will visit the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Butts, at Chillicothe.

"Fergusonism" Again Issue, Says Moody

Texas Attorney-General, Formally Opening Campaign For Governor, Attacks "Rule By Proxy."

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14.—"Fergusonism" is the issue in the run off primary campaign for the governorship of Texas as in the first contest, Attorney-general Dan Moody declared this afternoon in formally opening his campaign.

Speaking before a huge gathering, Moody replied to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's recent statement at Austin in which she declined to withdraw from the race in compliance with her election wager. Moody's reference to the governor were directed toward James E. Ferguson, who, he claims, holds the governor's chair through proxy.

Moody answered Ferguson's Klan charge by saying, "He attempts to renew the Klan issue in the hope that he might repeat the history of 1924 and by engendering bitter prejudice and hatred further foist himself on the people of Texas."

DIDN'T READ BORAH REPLY

CLEMENCEAU "HAD NO DESIRE TO DISCUSS MATTER."

ADDRESSED COOLIDGE

"Tiger" Says He Exercised Privilege Of Any Citizen To The Head Of Politically Free Country.

St. Vincent sur Jard, France, Aug. 14.—M. Georges Clemenceau doesn't care enough about the reply Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, made to his letter on the debt question to read it, the "Tiger" declared today in an interview with the International News Service.

"I have been told Senator Borah has made apparently disagreeable statements regarding my letter to President Coolidge but I have not read it and have no desire to read it much less discuss it and enter into polemics with my American contradictor," said Clemenceau when he received the International News correspondent in the modest salon of his vender, looking out over the sea.

"I am addressing myself to President Coolidge, the representative of a great people who were our allies during the war. I exercised the privilege of any citizen to a politically free country to express his ideas. I said everything I desired the addressee of the great people he represents to know," said the "Tiger."

Competing Planes at K. C., Arrive at 11:45

Charles Jones, Piloting Curtis Oriole, First To Swoop Down On Richards Field—Beech Second.

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—The twenty-one Ford reliability planes, making a 2,600-mile trip for experimental purposes to determine the reliability of the various types of planes for commercial purposes, swooped down on Richards Field here almost together today, the first plane arriving at 11:45 a. m.

More than one thousand persons were on the field to welcome the fliers. Charles Jones, piloting the Curtis Oriole, was the first to arrive, having attained an altitude of 5,000 feet after the planes left Wichita where they arrived yesterday from Lincoln, Neb. Jones took the lead early and held it all the way into Kansas City.

The planes were accompanied by two others not in competition for the Ford reliability trophy, the Douglass transport, with a capacity of eight passengers, and a Ford three-motor plane.

Walter Beech was the second to arrive. He said he flew so low on the trip that he missed the tree tops by mere inches and frightened cattle in the field. Jones was the tenth to leave Wichita.

To Take Tickets at Missouri State Fair

Charles Stanfield and Ed Tindall left this morning in the Tindall car for Sedalia, Mo., where they will attend the State Fair. They will have charge of taking tickets at the grandstand on the fair grounds.

Dean Barnard to Colorado.

Dean Edith A. Barnard of the State Teachers College left this afternoon on a vacation trip to Colorado Springs, Denver, and other points in Colorado.

MEXICO FACTS TO PRESIDENT

KELLOGG TO DISCUSS SITUATION WITH COOLIDGE.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY

But American Rights Will Be Protected, K. Of C. Leader Is Told.—Archbishop Is Spared.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Secretary of State Kellogg was en route north today to visit President Coolidge at the summer White House. He took with him a mass of documents on the Mexican situation.

Despite the appeal of the Knights of Columbus for intervention in Mexico, department officials indicated today there will be no change in this government's policy of hands off the Mexican religious controversy.

It is understood Kellogg told James J. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, that the matter was one for Mexico alone to adjust but America will fully protect all rights of Americans who may be in danger.

The latest developments in the Mexican oil and land laws dispute will also be carefully studied by President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg.

Mexico City, Aug. 14.—The Mexican government will not press the charges against archbishop Mora y del Rio, leading prelate of Mexico, Attorney-General Romeo Artego announced today following a long conference with President Calles.

The charges in question were brought by Minister of Interior Tojeda, who asserted that the statements made by the archbishop in a press interview violated the portion of the Constitution forbidding criticism of the government by the clergy.

Calles's restraint in this matter is widely interpreted as evident that the government is reluctant to convert the Catholic leaders in the present conflict into religious martyrs by placing them in prison.

The religious controversy appeared today to be settling even further into a mire of deadlock.

Mystery Coffin Now at Rest in Chapel

Claimed to Contain Remains of Lord Kitchener—Powers Will Invite Admirality to Make Identification.

London, Aug. 14.—A triple-enclosed coffin today rests in the Ardente chapel which is claimed by Frank O. Powers to contain the body of Lord Kitchener, who was lost when the Hampshire was sunk during the war.

The coffin was brought to London last night, draped by the Union Jack, and taken to the Ardente chapel. Powers claims that he discovered the body of Lord Kitchener buried in Norway where it had been washed ashore. Powers now states that he will get in touch with the admiralty and permit officials to examine the remains. He also says he will submit the identification to any efficient pathologist.

The admiralty has issued a statement denying the body Powers has found is that of Lord Kitchener, maintaining it was impossible for the body to be washed ashore in Norway and stating that the only bodies found on the Norwegian coast were those of men lost in the Jutland battle.

Suits Filed Against Mercantile Concerns

Kansas City, Aug. 14.—Four suits, aggregating $1,059,799.94, against the R. Sadowsky, Inc., stores and against Lees Bros., Inc., were filed here this afternoon by Isadore A. Hessel of St. Louis.

Return from Motor Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. James returned Wednesday noon from an extended motor trip to Greeley, Colo., Torrington, Wyo., and points in Nebraska. They have been visiting their son, Harold James, and family, at Omaha for the last three weeks. They had been gone since the first of June.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

COURTESY TO AMERICANS.

England, unlike France, is not makinf hostile demonstrations against American tourists, but is trying to attract and hold them. The government is co-operating in this effort with the hotel and transportation interests.

Some of the methods adopted suggest a sort of enterprise which we usually think of as American rather than British. Mayors throughout Great Britain have been asked to prepare publicity matters setting forth the attractions of their cities and surroundings.

Britain wants to get more of the tourist money that is now spent in France. From present indications, she is likely to succeed. When the French make things unpleasant for Americans, Americans naturally stop going there; and if there is any other country that interests the average American as much as France, it is England.

The British have their grievances, real or imaginary, against America, as the French have. But they are less disposed to show them in public, or get excited about them. The British are better able than the French to discuss a difference of opinion dispassionately and impersonally. There may be debate among statesmen and journalists, and unpleasant flings in some of the British newspapers, but there is no mobbing on the street and little or no evidence of personal dislike shown to tourists going decently about their own affairs.

It will doubtless be found by our European friends that courtesy is a business asset to a nation no less than to a private enterprise.

Tourists are many, but detourists are more.

People run to a fire and walk back. A lot of them act the same way about matrimony.

A headline says "Gored to Death by Bull." We are bored nearly to death by it every day.

A Kansas City hotel has a roomer who has had the same room for twenty-three years for which he has paid $24,840. He is a bachelor and has paid a high price for his freedom.

We had thought that Col. House was responsible for everything worthwhile that occurred between 1910 and 1920 until Jack Kearns memoirs began to appear. From them it seems that Jack Dempsey only furnished the fists and that Kearns did everything else. Just think what a team House and Kearns would make if their services to their country could be united.

What Other Editors Say

Thus Endeth the Lesson.

The World-Herald is in receipt of the following communication from Hon. John Doe Blank, candidate at the late primaries for the office of first vice trustee of the Society for the Prevention of Profanity Among the Righteous, which it reproduces without comment :

"Sir: As you have seen by the papers, I have been defeated. Not that it makes a great deal of difference. I will be the first to proclaim the qualities of my successful opponent. I admit that, in the heat of campaign, I may have let fall certain ill-considered remarks that may rise to accuse me now of inconsistency. But those things were said in moments of passion, when I was abnormal and still thought there was a chance.

"I shall continue my efforts in behalf of the prevention of profanity. It has no place in our national life—not excepting the golf links or the poker table.

"I assure you that there are no sore spots on me anywhere. This was one time when my wife was right. That's all. Which shows you never can tell. I never knew her to be right before. She probably will never be right again. But she was right this time. (Yet not wholly so, at that. She claimed I wouldn't get a vote, but by God's grace I got my own.)

"In closing I wish to thank all those who promised me their support. What if they didn't make good? The promise was something. I wish to end the whole farcial incident with the frank and unequivocal statement that politics is a sucker's game and from now on, so far as I am concerned, you can all go to hell."—Omaha World-Herald.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—A cockpit for a swivel chair, a joy-stick for a pencil!

When Commander John Rodgers, U. S. N., hero of the Hawaiian flight, was forced to make that trade, it nearly killed him. An inside job for John Rodgers! An office aviator!

No doubt but that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur thought he was giving a fitting reward when he made the flier assistant chief of naval aeronautics. But he actually made him the most unhappy man in Washington.

Since January 1, Rodgers has fidgeted and fumed—fumed silently, though. When it comes to maintaining silence, John Rodgers makes Calvin Coolidge sound loquacious. As a conversationalist, he is an excellent aviator.

A recent order from Wilbur has brought a swift transition in Rodgers' state of mind. He is going back to active duty, where he belongs and where he asked to be sent. Captain Emory S. Land will succeed him in the bureau of aeronautics.

The man who flew from San Francisco nearly to Hawaii, was forced down because his fuel gave out, drifted for nine days in the Pacific, was given up for lost and finally made the islands by a near miracle, is going to take the navy's newest seaplane squadron and see what he can do with it.

The government is just finishing two new super-seaplanes at the Philadelphia navy yard. There's considerable secrecy about them. They're the PH-10 and the PN-10, which doesn't mean much, but, at any rate, they're improvements and enlargements on the PN-9, in which Rodgers almost, but not quite, flew from San Francisco to Hawaii.

Fifty Years Ago

Lafe Dawson and Judge Royal addressed a large meeting of the Democracy of St. Joseph on Tuesday night.

On last Thursday, Sheriff Beech and Deputy Sheriff Huffman arrested a man by the name of James Langford, alias James Harvey, who is charged with having killed a man about a year ago in Southeast Kentucky. Langford is about 40 years old. He does not deny being the man who is charged with the crime but says he can establish his innocence. He will be taken to Kentucky in a few days to stand his trial for a grave offense which is preferred against him.

We have been kindly favored with the Evening Chronicle of St. Joseph, a new Democratic daily, as an exchange.

The brick work on the wareroom in the rear of Curfman & Shaum's place of business is now completed. The work is well executed. Work on the improvements contemplated on the Nodaway Valley Bank building will commence next week or as soon as they agree on the plan. John Russell has the contract for the brick work.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Eight Nodaway County persons are the lucky ones in the government drawing for land in the Shoshone Indian reservation in Wyoming. They are: Dr. Francis R. Anthony, W. E. Trueblood and William Funk of Maryville; Andrew E. Penn, Clearmont; James A. Carter, Burlington Junction; H. C. Bailey and A. L. Callaway, Quitman; and E. D. Hall, Hopkins. Each of the persons named will be entitled to claim 160 acres of land in the Shoshone reservation, under the federal homestead act.

The public schools of the city will open on the 10th day of September.

The library board met last Saturday morning at the library building to elect officers and attend to other business. The officers elected were: J. G. Grems, president; Charles Hyslop, vice-president; Sam Gillam, secretary; Geo. L. Wilfley, treasurer. W. A. Snodgrass was appointed librarian for another term.

Cady's Cadet Band appeared in their new uniforms Friday evening and gave a concert. The suits are of white duck with red trimmings.

The base ball game last Thursday between the lawyers and the real estate men resulted in a victory for the lawyers by a score of 53 to 21. Those who played were: Lawyers—John Duncan, J. L. Funk, Charles Growney, Charles McCaffrey, Edward Frazier, L. C. Cook, John Dawson, P. L. Growney, W. H. Crawford and George Pat Wright. Real Estate—R. P. Hosmer, Walter Smith, W. H. Allen, O. C. Plan Correct Measure of Distance to Sun

Estimate Now Believed to Be One Two-Thousandth Off—Astronomers to Try Again in 1932.

Copenhagen, Aug. 14.—Another attempt will be made by the world's foremost astronomers in 1931 to measure more accurately the earth's distance from the sun, according to plans to be submitted to the International Astronomic Congress which opens here tomorrow.

Although the present estimate of the earth's mean distance from the sun is placed at 92,897,400 miles, which is considered sufficiently accurate for all practical uses, it is believed that the position of the planet Eros in 1931, in its relative relation to the sun and the earth will afford an opportunity to make the estimate more exact than it is at present.

The present estimate was made from similar observations in 1900 through an international cooperative effort. Astronomers in all parts of the world at that time made individual estimates and these were combined by the eminent English astronomer Hinks, and the figure reached by him has been used to the present. It is believed that this estimate is correct to one part in 2,000 but it is probable that the 193 observations will bring the correction to one part in 5,000.

The Congress has been arranged by the Astronomische Gesellschaft, an organization of private astronomers with members in all countries. During the week the delegates to the Congress will make a trip to the Island of Hveen on the 350th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Tychno Brahes Observatory at Uranienborg.

The Congress will discuss various phenomena of the heavens which have been observed in recent years. It is expected that the subject of variable stars, and principally the star Omicron, in the constellation Cetus, which has puzzled astronomers for the last 300 years, will be the principal feature of discussion.

This sun has a diameter of 270,000,000 miles, or 300 times the diameter of our own sun. During recent observations it became for more than four months 600 times its original brightness and more than 100 times the brightness of our sun and then slowly faded to its original state, repeating the cycle every 11 months.

Further efforts will be made to devise more accurate means of determining the internal temperatures and structures of stars, which at the present time are mathematical computations.

Most of the members of the Congress are said to agree for the most part with the Einstein theory and except for a few points the theory will not be discussed at length.

To Attend Institute of International Relations

Not Less Than Ten Thousand Americans Expected at Meeting Which Opens at Geneva Tomorrow.

Geneva, Aug. 14.—The third annual session of the Geneva Institute of International Relations opens here tomorrow and will continue in session until after the League Assembly closes towards the end of September.

Not less than ten thousand American tourists and an equal number of English are expected to attend various lectures and courses of the Institute during the present session.

Since its inauguration three years ago the Institute has now become a European summer Chautauqua for students of international affairs and League of Nation's activities.

The Institute was founded and is maintained jointly by the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association of the United States and the League of Nations Union of Great Britain. These are the two largest organizations in the world now that are working for the interests of the League of Nations.

Regular daily lectures will be given to all American and English tourists, students or others who happen to be passing through Geneva or who come especially for the purpose on all of the leading international questions in which the League is interested. Many of the best international authorities in Europe as well as leading officials of the League of Nations and the International Labor Bureau give their services as lecturers before the Institute.

Field Marshall Lunerdorf.

Politics and chess, two closely allied games, fill the life of Fieldmarshal Ludendorff. As a leader of the anti-Semitic movement, Ludendorff has now taken up a new hobby and is busily conducting researches among the pedigrees of ancient Nordic families. The anti-Semitic, fascist leader, Hitler, is a frequent player in the chess games at Ludendorff's villa near Munich.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Tourists Invade National Capitol.

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 14.—An unending line of tourists file each day through the deserted corridors of the capitol where a few weeks ago the Senate, the House and the Supreme Court were busy at the business of the nation.

When these three agencies of the government take their summer vacations, the place of their labors is handed over to the guides who escort thousands through the building each day showing the points of interest.

There are not more than ten Senators in Washington this summer and less than 50 Representatives. That average will be maintained during the recess. Some will leave but others will return to take their places.

Workmen are busy on the Senate floor tearing up the old boards to replace them with new and better wood. The big doors of the House Chamber are locked. Dust cloths are spread over the benches of the Supreme Court.

Washington is no summer resort and senators and congressmen usually relinquish their employees a short time after adjournment. They spread from coast to coast. Statisticians estimate that the population of the city decreases by perhaps 5,000 during adjournment time.

The few senators and congressmen who have remained in town this summer in most instances were required to remain here because of their health. Newspapermen tramping through the office buildings have little to inquire about except the health of the legislators who remain. As soon as the Senate, the House and the Court go, the news goes with them.

But two weeks before convening time the bustle will begin again. Senators and congressmen will return from their homes full of new ideas. Their employees will return. The House and Senate restaurants will reopen. The snuff boxes in the Senate will be refilled and thousands again will be busy making history for the nation.

Surprise Mr. Ulmer.

A surprise in observance of the thirty-third birthday anniversary of Elmer Ulmer was given last night at his home on East Cooper street, by a group of relatives and friends. The guests brought a picnic supper, which was served at 7 o'clock on the lawn. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ulmer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulmer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Darl McClain and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seals and family, Mr. and Mrs. Purl Edwards and family, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. John Ulmer, Walter Cain, Mrs. Luther Williams of Burlington Junction, and Mrs. Ulmer and children.

Charivari Newlyweds.

About 125 young people, residing in and near Conception and Maryville, charivaried Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Henggler last night at their home near Conception. The evening was spent in dancing, after which ice cream and cigars were served. Mr. and Mrs. Henggler were married last Tuesday in St. Joseph. The latter was formerly Miss Inez Lacy of Maryville.

Miss David Entertains.

Miss Florence David entertained a number of friends Thursday evening at her home, east of Pickering. Outdoor games and music were the entertaining features, and refreshments were served. The following guests were entertained: Misses Gracie Sharr, Lois Harvey, Verna Tresse, Velda McCall, Ruby Judd, Thelma Cline, Mary Pistole, Bertha Treese, Mattie McKee, Alfaretta Latimer, Retha Logan, Doris, Georgia, David, and George Judd, John Gray, Marvin Collins, Irvin Treese, Ernest and Wilbur Sharr, Harold and Harry Copeland, Lawrence and Lloyd Logan, Leland David, Mr. and Mrs. Crystal Treese and Mr. and Mrs. George David.

Successful Club.

The Skidmore Successful Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Nellie Caywood Thursday afternoon. Pickle and salad recipes formed the roll call responses. Mrs. Leona Linville read an editorial on "Keeping the Right Sort of Tally," and several piano selections were given by Miss Lucile Caywood. At the close of the business session refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters. These members and children were present: Mrs. Fannie Peter, Mrs. Mary Pfeiffer, Mrs. Leona Linville and son, Floyd, Mrs. Golda Wells, Mrs. Willa Goslee and children, Vivian and Carroll, Mrs. Mary Lowrance and daughter, Ardith, Miss Ocie Shell, Miss Lucile Peter, and the hostess and daughters, Hilda, Lucile, Mariam and Katherine. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Lena Pfeiffer Sept. 9 when the program will be in charge of the following committee: Mrs. Lena Pfeiffer, Miss Ocie Shell, Mrs. Mary Linville and Mrs. Missouri Linville.

Guests at Raines Home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Raines will entertain with a picnic supper this evening at the Country Club, when a number of friends have been asked to meet their week-end guests, Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Searfoss and daughter, Myra Ann, of Odessa, Mo., Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Kimball of St. Joseph and Dr. and Mrs. George L. Erskine of Kansas City, who will motor here today. Dr. Searfoss, Dr. Kimball and Dr. Erskine are members of the Missouri State Board of Optometry, of which Mr. Raines is vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. Raines will honor the visitors with a dinner tomorrow at the Country Club. Other members of the group will be Misses Mabel and Laura Margaret Raines.

Airy Family Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Airy and sons, John and Winston, will motor here today from Omaha to attend a family reunion at the home of Mr. Airy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Airy, on West Second street. His brother, P. Guy Airy of Dripping Springs, Okla., arrived in Maryville Thursday and was accompanied by Mrs. Airy and their daughter, Virginia. Will Airy of Watson, a brother of Mr. Airy, sr., and Mrs. Airy, will come tomorrow. A picnic dinner will be given at the Country Club tomorrow noon in honor of the visitors. Other members of the family group will be Mr. and Mrs. Emery Airy, Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Kirtley, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Airy and Miss Lucille Airy, all of Maryville.

She Treats 'Em Very Rough

Bootleggers and other liquor law violators have been faring poorly at Fort Worth, Tex., since Mrs. Sarah Cory Menezes became Assistant U. S. District Attorney. Out of the first 57 cases she handled, she got 51 convictions, continued four cases to get more evidence, had a hung jury in one more and saw the defendant acquitted in only one. She gets prison terms for all second offenders.

Rockford Community Club.

Members of the Rockford Community Club were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carroll Hogan. Roll call was responded to with "my hobby." The study for the afternoon was "Recreation in the Home." Mrs. Ernest Bainum told of "Flower Gardening as a Recreation," and Mrs. J. R. Evans of "Hospitality in the Home." There was a round table discussion of "Games for the Family." Those present were Mrs. Cleo Renshaw, Mrs. Ernest Bainum, Mrs. Alfred Jones, Mrs. J. R. Evans, Mrs. Darrell Hart, Mrs. William Wells, Mrs. M. C. Williams, Mrs. W. C. Hogan, Misses Opal Mallory, Mary Alice Jones, Katherine Jones, Evelyn Evans, Roberta Wells, Grace Williams, and Glen Edwin Renshaw. The time and place of the next meeting was not decided upon.

Dinner and Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Noid will entertain members of the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club and their husbands at a dinner bridge tonight at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Peery, on West Third street. An additional guest will be Miss Florence Poteet of Kansas City, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mapel.

Honor Cox Family.

Complimenting Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox and family of Columbus, Ohio, the members of the First Methodist Church, of which Dr. Cox is a former pastor, gave a picnic supper in the church dining room last night. Between 225 and 250 church members and friends of the Cox family were in attendance. Following the picnic supper at 6:30 o'clock, a program was given, with John Price, jr., acting as toastmaster. Dr. Cox gave an interesting talk, telling of his church work at Columbus, and he also sang a group of voice selections. Miss Nellie Wray of Redlands, Cal., who is visiting relatives here, also gave several vocal solos. Both singers were accompanied by Miss Lucille Airy. Additional program features included short talks by Mrs. Cox and Miss Wray; a talk by Dr. C. C. James; and the benediction by Dr. Cox.

Former Residents Visit Here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Smith and daughters, Alma and Margaret, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Onberdonk of Trenton, parents of Mrs. Smith, were guests of Maryville friends yesterday, motoring here from Trenton. The visitors were luncheon guests of Capt. Charles Hyslop and were dinner and over-night guests at the home of Miss Orril Helwig. Mr. Smith is a former science instructor at the State Teachers College here.

Cox Family Leaves.

Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Cox and children, Borden, Sarah Ruth and Mary Christine, of Columbus, Ohio, returned to Kansas City this morning after a several days' visit with Maryville friends. Dr. Cox is preaching at the Grand Avenue M. E. Church in Kansas City during August while the pastor is on vacation. The visitors were accompanied to Kansas City by Mrs. Guy Haller, who will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lowry until Monday night.

LEAGUE FACES GREAT CRISIS

ASSEMBLY NEXT MONTH TO BE MOST CRITICAL IN HISTORY.

HAS MANY PROBLEMS

Also Will Have Vital Internal Questions to Settle—Council to Meet September 3.

Geneva, Aug. 14.—With the meeting of the seventh annual assembly of the League of Nations on September 6, the League will begin the most important and the most critical period of its existence.

In addition to an unusually full agenda of international questions and problems, embracing everything from disarmament to white slave traffic, the League will have the two most vital internal problems to settle that it has yet faced. These are the admissions of Germany, and the reorganization of the council, which carries with it Brazil's resignation from the League and Spain's threat to do likewise.

It is only when the September assembly will have been able to overcome successfully this internal crisis that it will be abl to take up the agenda of outside, international questions.

As a matter of fact the League's September period of activities will begin even before the convening of the assembly.

On September first there will be held at Geneva the international conference of signatories of the Hague Court protocol for the purpose of seeing if some protocol or annex can be adopted that will admit of the acceptance of the United States' Senate reservations.

Then on September 3, the League Council will convene for its forty-first session, and will remain in continuous session throughout the entire month of September. It will be especially charged with the task of assuring the admission of Germany to the League and the overcoming of the Council crisis.

The assembly itself will then convene on September sixth for what will be at least a four weeks' session.

Finally, at some time during the course of the assembly, an international conference will be held for launching the League's new international convention for the worldwide abolition of all forms of slavery. All of the nations of the world have been asked to send delegates to the assembly with plenipotentiary powers for signing this convention.

The full agenda of the seventh League assembly is as follows:

Election of the Credentials Committee.

Election of President (probably foreign Minister Ninchitch of Serbia).

Examination and adoption of the agenda.

Nomination of six general committees and election of chairmen.

Election of six vice-presidents of the assembly.

Report of the Council to the Assembly on the past year's work.

Pacific settlement of international disputes.

Arbitration, Security and Disarmament with report on all treaties thereon to date.

Protection of women and children in the Near East.

Admission of Germany to the League.

Reorganization of the Council.

Report of the League's Economic and Financial Committee, especially on the reconstruction of Austria and Hungary.

Preparation of International Economic Conference.

Report of the League's Commission on Communication and Transit, including fixing a permanent date for Easter and the reform of the calendar.

Report of the League's International Health Commission.

Report of the League's Commission on White Slave Traffic, including experts' report on present worldwide status of the traffic.

Report of the League's Commission on International Intellectual Cooperation.

Adoption of Budget for 1927.

Election of non-permanent members of Council.

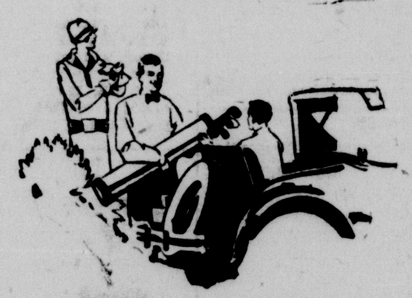
Smart New Rumble Seat
For Sport Roadster



Rumble seats are justly popular. They add a smart, rakish touch to roadster lines, and increase the carrying capacity by two passengers.

That Dodge Brothers Sport Roadster now provides this convenience, will be welcome news to thousands.

Like the main seat, it is deeply upholstered in gray Spanish genuine leather, and the seat back is high and well pitched, providing unusual comfort.

When closed, the rear compartment is absolutely waterproof, even in rainiest weather.

Ample space is provided behind the main seat for golf clubs, suit cases, tennis rackets and similar luggage.

Brilliant pheasant green lacquer body and hood, strikingly in contrast with the tan top, black fenders and full special equipment, complete a general color scheme of exceptional dash and charm.

TONIGHT ONLY—Evelyn Brent in "THREE WISE CROOKS." Here's the merest sample of its prodigious entertainment. A helpless little old lady, on a park bench. Her pocket-book gone, with her railroad ticket back to the country. A sophisticated, veneered, clever girl crook passing. Her interest awakened. Her sympathy touched. Yet she thought, at first, that this was a "con" game—that the little old lady was a faker. How she came to take the pathetic old soul to her heart, and how her action was repaid a hundred fold, is one of the touching things in this amazing melodrama. Story by John Brownell and Fred Myton. Also a two reel western —FRED HUMES in "TRAPPED."

Safety First

Chief H. D. Doucett, of the U. S. battle fleet's air squadron at San Diego, has designed a 50-foot parachute for airplanes which, he believes, will let a disabled plane float down easily and prevent crashes. MORE MONEY FOR HOSPITALS

URGES $7,380,000 BOND ISSUE FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS.

PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

W. P. Fulkerson, President Of The State Eleemosynary Board, Tells Of Needs.

Mexico, Mo., Aug. 14.—Consideration of a plan of "feeder" roads in each of the 114 counties of Missouri, to supplement the State highway system, is but one of the more important topics to be discussed by the County Judges' Association which meets at the Sedalia Fair next week, since the Board of Managers of the State Eleemosynary Institutions will present then their recommendations for appropriation needs of the State's charitable institutions, advocating indorsement of a bond issue of $7,380,000, according to R. M. White, local member of the board, who made public here today a statement by W. P. Fulkerson of St. Joseph, president of the board.

Foremost in the proposed plan to relieve the "overcrowded institutions," is a recommendation for a new hospital, with land, buildings and equipment, to accommodate about 1,500 patients, to cost about $2,000,000, and to be designed to serve the northeast section of the State, remedying the "overtaxed demand of the other hospitals, particularly the one at St. Joseph, which draws heavily from this section, and which has far exceeded its capacity."

Proposed Expenditures Outlined.

Other major expenditures plans are for $1,000,000 at State Hospital No. 1 at Fulton, $1,265,000 at State Hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph, $790,000 for State Hospital No. 3 at Nevada, $735,000 for State Hospital No. 4 at Farmington, $830,000 for the Missouri State School for the Feeble Minded at Marshall, and $760,000 for the Missouri State Sanatorium at Mount Vernon.

In advocating the general building and improvement program, Fulkerson says it "anticipates the demands and requirements of all State hospitals for a period of a quarter of a century."

"At present," he says, "there are in the four hospitals for the insane in Missouri approximately 7,000 inmates. All of the institutions are overcrowded, each year showing an increased number of admissions. The buildings are of more or less obsolete construction and are becoming wholly inadequate.

"The risk of serious fire hazard always is confronting the management. These institutions should not be regarded as being the problems of yesterday, today or tomorrow, but as the inheritance of the ages, and so long as the State government functions, they must be humanely and intelligently conducted.

Urges Detailed Survey.

"When it is considered that the great scheme for caring for the dependent population of this State involves not alone mere custodial retention for the safety of society, but covers the entire field of medical and economical science as well, to plan physical care and comfort without the medicinal and therapeutic welfare in mind is to place the institutions on a plane similar to almshouses, instead of hospitals devoted to the real rehabilitation of the mentally ill."

Jackie Coogan will be back in Maryville Monday and Tuesday nights at the Electric Theatre. The young star will appear this time in "Old Clothes," one of his most popular pictures. From riches to rags and the finally back again, the story is typically Jackie Coogan. Of course, there is a love story too, and Jackie plays the part of Dan Cupid to the delight of the lovers and the discomforture of the third party.

To Change Lighting of Barnes School

Barnes School, four and one-half miles east of Graham, will be put in line for first class recognition by a change in lighting, which the directors decided upon yesterday after a meeting with Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools. The directors also will add a ventilating feature to the school's already modern heating plant.

Out in Society

Highland Club.

The regular meeting of the Highland Club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pat Farrens, with seven members and six guests present. The afternoon was spent socially, and refreshments were served. A picnic was planned for Wednesday evening, Aug. 18, at the home of Mrs. O. K. Busby. Mrs. W. H. Burr will entertain the club Aug. 25. Those present were Mrs. Minnie Wrightman, Mrs. Jake Chestnut, Mrs. O. K. Busby, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Roy Kelley, Mrs. Walter Dickie, Marion and Evelyn Farr, Lucile and Katherine Linebaugh, Burl Weston Dickie and Dale Farrens.

Girls' Auxiliary Meets.

Seventeen members, two new members and four guests attended the meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of the Baptist Church at the home of Mabel Cox on South Main street last night. The lesson was on "Africa and Missionaries of Africa." After an interesting program, the evening was spent socially. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Cox, served refreshments. The next meeting on Aug. 20 will be in the form of a picnic, with Nettie and Nellie Russell as hostesses.

Industrial Art Club.

The Mt. Pleasant Industrial Art Club met at the home of Mrs. P. L. Pence Thursday afternoon. Quilt blocks were pieced for the hostess. During the business session plans were made for the annual homecoming to be held at the Mt. Pleasant school Thursday evening, Aug. 26. The women are requested to come in house dresses and the men in overalls. A picnic supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. The hostess was assisted in serving lunch by her daughter, Mrs. Alvin Trueblood, and Helen Cassel. The members and visitors present were Mrs. Ed Wiley, Mrs. Floyd Alexander, Mrs. J. C. Farrar, Mrs. Harley Cassel, Mrs. John Harrington, Mrs. Alvin Trueblood, Misses Lucile Farrar, Helen Velva and Frances Cassel, Earl Warren Trueblood and Floydine Alexander.

To Return From West.

Julius A. Klaas and family, who have been at Twin Falls, Idaho, for some time, write that they are returning to Conception Junction.

"We like the West," Mr. Klaas says, "but Old Missouri is good enough for us."

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Matteson and sons, Joe, jr., and Frank Birdsey of Parnell left this morning in their car for Lexington, Ky., where Dr. Matteson will attend the convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association. They expect to be gone about ten days.

Dr. R. E. Ferguson of St. Joseph is visiting his sister, Mrs. Vern Gates, and Mr. Gates at Elmo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Hainline of Wilcox are Maryville visitors today.

Miss Betty Turner Writes About Kiwanis Excursion to England

Miss Betty Turner, executive secretary of the Nodaway County chapter, American Red Cross, who is now in Europe, has arranged for an eleven-days' extension of time and will not return with the Shenandoah Kiwanis Excursion.

Following is a letter received from Miss Turner this morning:

We have just passed Belle Isle and through the Strait of Belle Isle. For the last hour the Doris has nosed her way through icebergs off the coast of Labrador and Newfoundland. I find the bergs more interesting than those of Child's Glacier. They seem to be larger and more fantastically formed, resembling castles, cathedrals, ships, etc. I am told we are exceedingly fortunate in having a clear sky as the strait is usually shrouded in heavy mist. Under the brilliant sun the "bergs" glitter as of polished silver.

The afternoon in Toronto, "Queen City of Canada" was pleasantly spent visiting the University of Toronto, Mary Pickford's birth place and drive over the city. A very profitable day in Montreal, the metropolis of Canada. I was greatly interested in the beautiful cathredal, Notre Dame, with its magnificent paintings. Notre Dame claims the largest seating capacity in America. St. James, said to be similar to Ste. Peters in Rome, is a vastly interesting cathedral. Mt. Royal and the great shipping docks at Montreal also claimed my attention. Quaint Quebec will always delight me. I again visited the renowned shrine of Ste. Ann de Beaupre, twenty miles out of Quebec.

Elaborate preparation was being made for a religious festival and the entertainment of twenty thousand guests next day. At the shrine our party was blest by one of the priests in charge. We appreciated this kindness. I was glad of the opportunity to again see the celebrated Cyclorama of Jerusalem, the day of the Crucifixian, painted by Paul Philippoleaux of Paris, on a circular canvas 45 feet high by 360 feet in circumference with only one seam.

While in Montreal the evening we left, we heard the Orpheous Chorus of eighty-five male voices in concert at the Windsor Hotel. The chorus is from Cleveland, Ohio. They are aboard our ship and are bound for Wales to enter an international contest. I have never before heard such exquisite harmony and perfect blending of tones. Ten of them sang the Episcopal service yesterday on A-deck. You can well imagine church service so beautifully conducted.

So far I have been a good sailor. The sea is calm and soothing. However, at any moment it may become turbulent. The enclosed program will give you an idea as to the daily entertainment provided for us—it varies of course.

Instead of playing in the bridge tournament, I am basking in glorious sunshine on A-deck. This disconnected letter is excellent proof that my thoughts are "at sea," and not on letter writing.

Friday: Thursday and Wednesday were gray, chilly and damp. The sea rolled and rolled but failed to disturb me as I had feared. Tomorrow evening we anchor at Liverpool, but will not go ashore until after breakfast. We will then continue our journey by rail to London via Stratford on Avon.

Naturally, my anticipations are growing space. I have arranged for an extension of eleven days. I have not yet decided on my itinerary.

With all good wishes,

BETTY TURNER.

Think Music Lessons Aid in School Work

Saxaphone And Piano Players Believed 25 Per Cent More Efficient After Survey at Springfield.

Springfield, Mo. Aug. 12—Youthful saxaphone and piano players today are declared 25 per cent more efficient in their school work than children who never have taken any music lessons.

This fact was shown in an exhaustive study of local grade and high schools which revealed students in music as outranking the students who play no musical instrument.

Piano is the favorite instrument, with violin, cornet, clarinet, saxaphone and trombone next in order among the large group studied.

FARM GLIMPSES

By BILLY TILSON

Charles Moore and son, east of Burlington Junction, were delivering their bluegrass seed to Mr. Hall, a buyer from St. Joseph. They received $1.25 per bushel for it. They sold a few days too soon, as the seed is now worth $1.50. They will have around 4,000 bushels.

Carden and Owens shipped out the bluegrass seed this week which they sold several days ago at $1.25 per bushel.

Asbell and Hurst, west of Burlington Junction shipped out two loads of heavy hogs from that point Thursday to the St. Joseph market. E. Boyer and John Messbarger of that vicinity had two loads of well-finished hogs on the market yesterday.

Jay Meeks, northeast of Burlington Junction, sold 700 bushels of corn a few days ago, and is delivering it. The price received was 75 cents per bushel. Mr. Meek says he has very good prospect for a fair yield of corn.

J. W. Bassett and family of Nebraska are visiting the family of Ed Spangler, northwest of Burlington Junction. Mr. Bassett reports the corn crop in his part of the state badly damaged by the hot weather.

Harry Farrar and wife of Maryville left this morning for Bristoe, Okla., where they will visit with a sister of Mrs. Farrar's. They will visit relatives in parts of Kansas before returning home.

Frank Anthony and daughter west of Gaynor City were visiting in the city yesterday. Mr. Anthony reports good rains up that way and the grass has started anew. The corn is looking like a fair crop.

Ed Allen, northwest of Conception Junction, who was transacting business in the city yesterday, says the rains have made a wonderful change and believes that with plenty of rain from now on the corn crop will show up better than expected.

Bert McKee, northwest of Ravenwood, says corn has made a great change since the rains and farmers over that way are more hopeful of a crop. Pastures which were drying up are beginning to look green.

Bert Barrett and family and Slacker Bilby, west of Quitman, were Maryville visitors yesterday. They report a good rain over that way and expect a fair yield of corn.

The wind of a few nights ago did considerable damage to corn on the Eckert farm, north of town. Charles Porter is the tenant on the farm.

Virgil Guthrie, northwest of Maryville, reports his corn blown down and twisted by the recent wind, but thinks it will most all straighten up.

W. R. Millsap and wife, north of Ravenwood, were Maryville visitors yesterday. Mr. Millsap says the corn in that vicinity has been damaged by the drought but the rains of the last few days have changed it wonderfully.

Leave For Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Riley and family, Mrs. Isabel Bagby, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John O'Riley and daughter, Marie, of Quitman, left Thursday for a three weeks' visit at Sheridan, Wyo. They will be guests of Thomas Young, a brother of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bagby, at Sheridan, and expect to visit other relatives on the return trip.

SENSE AND NONSENSE FOR THE FAMILY

THIS AND THAT FOR THE HOME

Much of Interest Is Found In Paper of 1847, Owned by Nathaniel Sisson

"SPIRITS—A limited business doing in foreign, and prices about steady. N. E. Rum, to the extent of 200 bbls., at 34 cents a gal.; Whiskey 30 to 34 cents for hogsheads, and 30 to 35 cents for bbls., closing at our lowest figures."

No, no, no, no! Don't get so excited. Because the little note about prices of "spirits" is taken from Alexander's Pictorial Messenger, a newspaper published in Philadelphia, Pa., under date of July 1, 1847, now a treasured possession of Nathaniel Sisson of this city.

Mr. Sisson was but 2 years old at the time this issue of the paper was published. It was left to him by his father, Nathaniel P. Sisson.

The Pictorial Messenger advertised itself as the "paragon of the Philadelphia Press" and the "largest family newspaper in the world." It boasted of being a "mammoth sheet," containing thirty-six columns of matter in each weekly number. The Democrat-Forum and Tribune customarily has fifty-six columns each day, and frequently more.

Press "Degenerate."

That so-called yellow journalism is not a new development is indicated by this paragraph from the Messenger's recommendation of itself:

"As the utmost care is taken to exclude every thing which can possibly offend against MORALS and GOOD TASTE, parents can place this paper in the hands of their CHILDREN without any apprehension or hesitation—a circumstance which, in the present degenerate condition of a portion of the Public Press, cannot be too highly estimated."

Being issued so close to the Fourth of July, the Messenger contained the Declaration of Independence in full and a large illustration and description of Washington taking leave of the officers of the Revolutionary Army, on retiring from military life.

Full market reports are given, among which are the following:

"Bacon—sale limited; 7½ to 8 cents for shoulders; 9½ to 9¾ for sides and 9 to 11 cents for hams, as to quality and condition; Lard, 9½ to 10 cents are the extremes of the market, for barrels and kegs, with small sales. Butter—Western sells on arrival at 10 to 12 cents. Cheese moved off slowly at 8 to 8½ cents."

Grains About the Same.

Grains were not far different in price from the market quotations of today. The Messenger carried the following:

"Wheat—$1.46 to $1.50 for fair and good Penna. reds, including some inferior parcels at $1.40 to $1.43; mixed, $1.52 to $1.53; and white at $1.55 to $1.60. Rye dull and sales of 5,000 bushels are reported at 95 to 100c, weight. Corn—stock light, and some 18 or 20,000 bushels good yellow sold at 100 to 95c weight; western sold at 85c. Oats are very dully—sales of 6,000 bushels at 45 and 46c for Southern and 50 to 51 for Pennsylvania."

"Under the title of 'The Presbyterian Church in America,' a new church was founded in Cincinnati, Ohio, a few weeks ago, which adheres to the old standards, but resolves that slaveholders and the advocates of slavery cannot be received into communion."

"The streets of New York are about to be cleaned 'by contract.' It is high time that they should be cleaned by contract, or by something else."

"A vessel, which arrived in London from Marseilles, brought an entire cargo of chestnuts."

"Santa Anna's wooden leg has arrived in New York City, and is exhibiting at the American Museum."

President Adams Living.

"John Quincy Adams is said to be in the enjoyment of excellent health since his return from Washington. Time seems to respect and spare him."

"John Jacob Astor, who is upwards of 80 years old, and who, naturally enough, is of opinion that he cannot survive much longer, has made a codicil to his will, leaving nearly half a million dollars for the establishment of a free library in the city of New York. Millionaires seem to have a fixed repugnance to benevolent or philanthropic actions while living. Of course, there are many noble exceptions."

An account of a hail storm in Indiana says: "The hail was as large as hen's eggs; it killed lambs, geese, chickens and birds innumerable. Some pieces of ice were as large as your hand, and flat, about an inch in thickness, three cornered, etc."

The Philadelphia rivalry with New York:

"The Gothamites have a class of boats which they call 'sound steamers' in contradistinction to the rest of their boats, which are generally unsound steamers, as may be seen in the case of the hulks they have sold to Uncle Sam for Government purposes."

Doniphan Unsupported.

The Mexican War:

"Col. Doniphan's Command has conquered the States of New Mexico and Chihuahua and traversed Durango and New Leon, traveling six thousand miles, consuming a whole year, in which time not one word was received from the government, nor any supplies of any kind, or orders or pay. The army lived on the country exclusively, and supplied itself with ammunition taken from the enemy."

And even then, labor troubles:

"Mass Meeting of Mechanics.—On Monday evening, there was quite an assemblage of mechanics convened in Independence Square, pursuant to a call for a general mass meeting. The object was to obtain an advance of wages, commensurate with the present large price of provisions and demand for labor. . . . The meeting had something of a partizan cast, owing to the opposition to foreign labor, and other causes."

Theatricals: "It is said that Fanny Ellsler is going to re-visit this country. The 'Knickerbocker' says, that instead of our citizens giving a dollar a-piece to see her stand on one leg, they had better give the money to those poor devils who have but one leg to stand upon."

"Jenny Lind is still at Her Majesty's Theatre, and crowds are unable to obtain admission every night she ap-

This Is How Senator Ford Tells You How to Reach His Cottage

Can you tell from the letter published below where Senator M. E. Ford's cottage is located at Manitou, Colo.? Anyway Senator Ford has written to Ellis G. Cook telling him the direction as Mr. Cook has intended to stop over there from a business visit out west.

Senator and Mrs. Ford are spending the summer at their cottage at Manitou.

The following is the direction to their cottage as written by Senator Ford:

"When you arrive in Colorado Springs you will be going south. Go right on down the platform and to the big viaduct bridge over the tracks. There are steps going up on this bridge. Go up and you will be right at a street car stopping place. Take the Manitou car going to the right or towards the mountains. Tell the motorman you want to get off at the D & R. G. depot in Manitou. It is town pretty near all the way but you will know when you are nearly to Manitou as you run on the north or left side of the little stream nearly all the way. But when you get nearly there you cross over to the south or right side of the river. The D. & R. G. depot is on the left side of the street car track and you reach it soon after crossing the river and before you get to Manitou. When you get to the D. & D. G. depot you will see a Derby Oil station just to the right of the depot where they sell Marland Oil. Just to the right of the oil station is a road going south up the mountain.

"Take that road. They call it a street. You will see a nigger wash house called the "Chicago Laundry". The sign is on top of the house. Follow right up that road and up about two hundred yards you will come to another railroad. Cross the track and just to the left, right at the track, you will see a path going up the bank. Take this crude path and up just a little ways you pass a little white cottage. Pass to the right and you will come to a road. Follow the road to the left about thirty feet and you will see another path on the right side of the road. Follow along the left bank of the gulch and pass the Kern cottage, crossing another road and passing to the right of the Mc Ginty cottage you will come to a road Ginty cottag you will come to a road and you follow this road to the left, going in front of a vine covered cottage on your right. This road goes right around the vine covered cottage and comes to our cottage, which is the last, a square white cottage, brown striped canvas screening the porch, an apricot tree right at the door.

"This sounds a bit complicated but it is just a short way and you will be in sight of our house all the time. I am giving this minute description so you will be sure all the time you are on the right way. It is not more than four hundred yards from the D. & R. G. depot to our house."

Now can you tell where the cottage of Senator Ford is?

Nodaway County Couple on Same Farm 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Groves, living near Graham, have lived on the same farm for fifty-two years. Both Mr. Groves and Mrs. Groves were born in Nodaway County, Mr. Groves reaching his 78th birthday on last July 12, and Mrs. Groves being 72 years old.

Mr. Groves was born at the Alf. Jones farm, south of Maryville, on July 12, 1848. When he was about seven years old he moved to the Graham community. His father, Hiram Groves, left in the spring of 1850 for California during the gold rush, and after a short time there returned to his home in this county, on Christmas day, 1850.

Mr. Groves has seen two court houses built in this county, the present one which was built in 1881, and one before this one. He said when he was a boy there were from 100 to 150 Indians who used to winter near Maitland. He was married in 1872 to Caltha I. Linville, who was born at Graham. They have three sons, Charles, Dallas M., and D. O. Groves, all living in the Graham community.

W. R. Linville of Skidmore, is twelve days older than Mr. Groves. Mr. Linville was born near Barnard. Both of them have been residents of Nodaway County during all their life.

In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks

BREADS AND BISCUITS AS 3 EXPERT COOKS MAKE THEM

(Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on cooking which 6 famous cooks are contributing to this paper.)

Bread can be much more than the uninteresting, prosaic "staff of life." It can be made so delicious that you eat it because you want to, not because you think you ought to. Famous cooks have unearthed many delicious bread and biscuit recipes from various parts of the country for you. Follow their recipes for pleasing variety in breads.

MRS. SARAH T. RORER

Easy Bran Muffins

Mrs. Rorer, the Philadelphia cooking expert, recommends her bran muffins for breakfast. "They are very nutritious and healthful," she says. "One might paraphrase the old saying into 'a bran muffin a day keeps the doctor away.' It would hold just as true.

"These muffins are easily made," she affirms. "Beat one egg, add a cup of milk, a half teaspoon salt, one tablespoonful sugar, and one tablespoonful melted butter. Sift one cupful flour with three level teaspoons baking powder, and bake in a hot oven, in greased gem pans for 20 minutes."

Nuts for Nourishment

Mrs. Rorer has a very appetising and nourishing nut bread, too. Here's how to make it:

Chop enough pecans to make a half cupful. Put two cupfuls flour in a bowl, add four level teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon salt, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and sift. Mix in the nuts. Beat one egg, add one cupful of milk, mix and add the flour. Beat well, and turn at once into a greased bread pan.

Let stand 10 minutes. Light oven 3 minutes before bread is light. Bake half an hour at medium heat. Raisins may be substituted for nuts.

Nut bread makes very good sandwiches if spread with butter. Cream cheese may also be used for a simple, delicious filling.

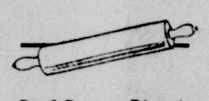
Southern Corn Bread

Corn bread, that favorite of the South, is another nutritious change from the every-day white bread. Made with the recipe of Miss Rosa Michaelis, famous New Orleans cook, it's a welcome part of any meal.

Here are the ingredients:

⅔ cup of sugar
4 cups cornmeal
1½ teaspoons salt
3 eggs
2 tablespoonfuls baking powder
1½ tablespoonfuls shortening
3 cups water (or milk, or the two mixed)

Sift corn meal, salt, sugar, and baking powder together. Add water or milk. Add yolks of eggs and shortening which has been heated. Add stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Put into a hot greased pan, and bake in hot oven. This can be served with butter or with syrup.



Real Beaten Biscuits

If you have a patient right arm, you are bound to make successful beaten biscuits. This is another old southern recipe of Miss Michaelis'.

1 quart flour
1½ teaspoons of lard
1 pint of milk
1 teaspoon salt

Sift dry ingredients. Then add the shortening and blend by using the fingers—rub until smooth; add gradually the liquid and knead all together till the dough is formed. Should be a rather stiff dough. Then lay the dough on a biscuit board and beat with rolling pin half an hour. Knead lightly and beat again for ten minutes, till air bubbles form all over the dough. Then roll out and cut with cutter in any shape and stick top here and there with fork. Bake in moderate oven about fifteen minutes or till top and bottom are a light brown.

Use Oranges

Orange muffins are just the thing for breakfast. Toasted, they are delicious to serve with afternoon tea. Mrs. Belle DeGraf, San Francisco, formerly with the Pacific Coast Branch of the New York Cooking School, gives this delectable recipe:

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup orange juice
Grated rind of one orange

Beat eggs and add liquid. Sift and combine dry ingredients. Add melted shortening and first mixture. Bake in greased muffin pans, in moderate oven about 20 minutes.

You may serve a different bread or biscuit every meal. These recipes are especially helpful to women with the lunch problem, as different sandwich fillings may be used with all but the beaten biscuit with good results.

(Watch for next week's special cooking article on this page.)

Much Ventilation

One manufacturer is selling an efficient oven with 108 holes. These holes provide perfect air circulation and carry away all surplus moisture and all odors. This oven is especially made for oil stoves.

Baking Hint

The oven should always be preheated a few minutes before biscuits are put in. They require fast baking.

For Oil Stove Users

Women who cook with oil will appreciate one of the newer oil stove models with a reversible, easily filled glass reservoir. The hands do not come in contact with the kerosene at all.

Bruce Montgomery Has Claim to Fame in His Gladiolus

How do you pronounce gladiolus? The correct way now, according to the national association of gladiolus raisers, is to say the word with an accent on the "o," And the letter is given the "long o" sound. "Gladi-O-lus." That's it.

If Bruce Montgomery ever goes down in the hall of fame it will likely be as a conniseur of gladiolus.

Most men have hobbies, and the local shoe dealer spends hour after hour in his garden perfecting different types and colors of that famous flower. And each year he comes out with something different. The styles change. There is a more brilliant red or a more magnificient purple. And all because Bruce Montgomery saw some gladiolus at a flower show ten years ago and bought a dozen bulbs.

Since that time he has crossed them and re-crossed them. He has inbred, outbred, and hybridized them, until now he has become a master of the art and an authority on the subject.

"It doesn't cost much, but it takes a lot of time," he said. "I have to do a lot of reading on the subject."

Mr. Montgomery's labor with his flowers does not end when they stop blooming. When winter approaches, he has to take them up, dry them thoroughly, clean them off, and pull or cut away the old bulbs.

And the ground in which his flowers are raised must receive attention. It has to be thoroughly fertilized and turned over. Then fresh fertilizer is put on top, and in the spring the ground must be turned again before planting.

"I plant my flowers about 5 or 6 inches deep to get the best results," Mr. Montgomery said. He has in the neighborhood of a thousand bulbs now.

Quaint.

"Eccentric, is he not?"

"Oh ,very. Why when he sees a 'Wet Paint' placard he does not investigate it by pawing at it, but takes it for granted and goes his way."

Hints and Helps for Farmers

by J. Ross Fleetwood County Extension Agent

The second annual 4-H club camp was a success even beyond the expectation of those who planned it. Due to the fact that the date of the camp was changed, not as many attended the camp as originally intended to do so, but those who did attend seemed to have an exceptionally good time.

The camp went off smoother this year than last, and the self government idea worked to perfection. That the youngsters really were interested in the camp and put a lot of effort into it was proved by the fact that the boys from Graham won over the girls in the contest for keeping the neatest and best arranged cabin. (And, by the way, the girls tried hard to win this honor.)

I would like to take this means of extending thanks of the club members, the local leaders, Mr. Itschner, Mr. Davis, and myself, to the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College for their many courtesies to us in providing the grounds, cottages, swimming pool and athletic equipment for the camp. To the College must go a large proportion of the credit for the success of the camp.

The food this year was exceptionally good. This was proved by the fact that the youngsters are increasing quantities every meal.

The stock-judging team, composed of Myron Crater, Roy Eldon Moore, of Ravenwood; and Clifford Froyd, Conception Junction; which is to represent Nodaway County at the stock-judging contest at the Missouri State Fair will leave Maryville at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. The trip to Sedalia will be made by automobile, and the boys while at the Fair will live in the War Eagle 4-H Club Camp on the State Fair grounds. The stock-judging contest will take place Monday.

Eugene Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moore of Maryville, will accompany the party as a representative of Nodaway County. He won first in the examinations held some time ago to determine who would get the honor.

A number of 4-H garment-making club exhibits have been sent to the State Fair at Sedalia from the garment-making clubs at Graham, Rockford, and Myrtle Tree. These will be entered in the girls' club garment making contest at the Fair and will be judges Tuesday.

The rain which fell this week should mean a good corn crop for most of Nodaway County. The rain was general over quite a large portion of the corn belt, but came too late to make corn in sections of Nebraska and Iowa.

In talking to a number of tourists one finds that Northwest Missouri corn is far better than the corn in any other section of the corn belt.

In the Harmony neighborhood, considerable damage was reported from a wind which accompanied the rain. But in most sections, the wind damage was very inconsequential as compared to the benefits of the rain.

Now is the time of the year when plans should be made for proper housing of hens this winter. If a new house is contemplated, it would pay any poultryman to give a little study to the Missouri type poultry house. The Missouri type house is square and has the advantage of giving more economical floor space, greater amount of freedom for the hens, and allows for a better arrangement of equipment than any other type of house. It also is constructed so as to insure adequate lighting and ventilation.

Plans and specifications for this type of house may be secured at my office at any time.

A number of White Leghorn pullets owned by O. W. Keever, Parnell, have demonstrated that pullets can start laying early. Mr. Keever's pullets were hatched March 2, and on July 9 began to lay. On the last day of July, they laid thirty-six eggs. It isn't necessary to say that these pullets have been well fed.

The recent rains have put the ground in wonderful condition for the fall seeding of alfalfa. The seed should be sown just as soon as the ground can be gotten in shape, and before the moisture in the top layer is gone. If the alfalfa is sown now, there is moisture enough to develop enough root system that the young alfalfa will be able to take care of itself during any drouth which we are likely to have from now on.

It cannot be stressed too much that good seed is the cheapest, regardless of the price. Also, inoculation should be used every time alfalfa is sown, for it is an insurance which does not cost enough to cause any one not to use it. Alfalfa which is sown within the next ten days should stand a good chance of making enough growth to go through the winter in excellent shape.

Young Weekend Guests Paint Hostess' House

London.—The close of the London season has been marked by a sudden tendency of the younger set to indulge in elaborate hoaxes.

One of the most startling was exposed when a hostess awoke one morning to discover her young week-end guests had completely painted her house in varied and startling colors. A favorite prank of the volatile younger set when returning from parties is to gather about an acquaintance's house at dawn to sing funeral dirges.

Harve England Wastes No Time: Neither Would You If You Did This Much On 3 1-2 Acres

Editor's Note: There is a certain widely read magazine in this country which devotes a great deal of its space to recounting lives and accomplishments of men who have made a success of themselves in different fields of endeavor. Unfortunately, however, the "little fellow" somehow can't make the grade in this publication. Here is a story of a Maryville man who has made quite a success of himself in a small way, and who has accomplished something out of the ordinary in the smaller field of truck gardening.

He's quite a fellow, is this Harve England. Besides being a deputy sheriff, a former chief of police, and a member of Battery C, Harve England has developed a truck gardening business on his little place just south of Maryville which is one of the most unique one-man propositions in this part of the country.

Harve England is an industrious fellow. He'd have to be to accomplish what he has done on this little place, which is as spic and span as a parlor and as productive as any spot in Nodaway County.

Almost any day Harve England may be seen on the streets of Maryville. Almost any night he is known to be on duty with the county officers. When Battery C is at summer camp, he is always found in charge of the Armory. But that isn't all that Harve England does. He has a place down on the pavement which produces everything from record crops of potatoes to gladiolius of unmeasured beauty.

And the industrious part of it all is that Harve England does it all himself.

Yesterday a visit was paid to this truck farm of his. The whole farm is about twelve acres, but all of this production comes from a place which would total about three and a half acres. Part of it is on one side of the road opposite the house. There Harve has eight city lots. Four of them are in watermelons, one is pasture, and the other three are in strawberries, next year's crop, if you please.

The watermelons are thick and almost ripe. Next week, Harve will pick them. The strawberry plants won't bear until next year. But that tract of land wasn't wasted this year. Harve planted onions in long rows quite wide apart. Between these rows he set his strawberry plants. The onions have already been disposed of and a profit declared on the land. And next year there will be the strawberries.

And these eight lots don't look like an ordinary plot of melon ground. Around them Harve has planted a row of castor beans.

"Yes, it took a little work, but don't you think they make it look nice?" he commented.

Across the road are the house, barn, and gardens. In one plot, Harve has his canteloupes and muskmelons. The hot weather was a bit hard on them, but in one place there are fifteen cantaloupes all in a bunch. And all are just about ripe. The muskmelons are a sort of a new thing with Harve, but the experiment looks successful.

On down the line are rows and rows of corn, and then the fence.

The other garden plot of back of and to the east of the house. Here are potatoes, beans, grapes, tomatoes, onions, beets, peas, turnips, and cucumbers, all in the best of condition, and all reflecting hours and hours of work to keep down the weeds, which "grow like the dickens," according to Harve.

There is more fruit besides the grapes. Twenty-five cherry trees are in one corner of the place and there are pears and peaches, raspberries, black berries, and mulberries, too. And Harve's Japanese hulless popcorn is one of his prides.

When asked about his potatoes, Harve smiled, tilted back his straw hat, and pointed to a plot of ground twenty-four by twenty-six steps.

"How many potatoes do you think I got out of that ground? Just about forty bushels. Yes, I think maybe that is a record.

"I planted them on the hundredth day of the year and I didn't sink 'em too deep. Here'—and he led the way to the cellar where the potatoes were, row on row of baskets and crates.

Yes, Harve has some stock. He keeps four Jerseys and one horse—and a dog. Calls the latter "Pup." It's an intelligent dog, though. The Kansas City paper was thrown off the bus about this time, and Harve went to the gate and said, "Get the paper, Pup."

And off Pup went, to nose around in the weeds a bit and then come wagging up to his master, the newspaper clenched lightly but firmly between his teeth.

Oh yes, there are flowers. Behind the house a bed of gladiolus bloomed and there were other traces of beauty all around. A big maple tree near the gate shades "the coolest spot in Nodaway County."

Harve England came to Maryville in 1917 from Quitman. Since then he has developed his farm, carried on his multitude of other duties and sent three children to College.

And next year—for the next five years, in fact—he has leased five acres more—"just to keep him busy and not let him loaf too much."

Statistics show very few died from spring fever, but many victims had their incomes cut off.

When the golf bug bites a man it makes him break out with knickers and loud stockings.

Hens are fairly sensible. But they lack efficiency. They should watch ducks. Ducks eat with shovels.

The GIRL in the MIRROR

By Elizabeth Jordan

COPYRIGHT BY THE CENTURY COMPANY

THE STORY.

CHAPTER I.—Barbara Devon's wedding and departure of her honeymoon leaves her brother "Laurie," successful playright but somewhat inclined to wildness, without her restraining influence. His theatrical associates, Rodney Bangs and Jacob Epstein, promise to "keep an eye on him."

CHAPTER II.—Laurie, who is wealthy, refuses to settle down to work, announcing his intention of resting and seeking "adventure." From his window in New York he sees the reflection of a beautiful girl in a mirror in the house opposite.

CHAPTER III.—Devon learns from the elevator boy in the girl's house that her name is Mayo. Again in the mirror's reflection he sees her with a revolver and fears she means to commit suicide. He breaks into her apartment and, winning her confidence, induces her to lunch with him, though she warns him of "danger."

CHAPTER IV.—Perceptibly agitated by the arrival of a man in the restaurant, she mutters that he has "found her." Learning that she is unmarried and the man has no claim on her, Laurie, incensed, accosts the stranger.

CHAPTER V.—Accusing the man of annoying Miss Mayo, Devon warns him to end his espionage. The stranger is politely sarcastic, but from him Laurie learns the girl's first name is Doris. She tells him her persecutor is Herbert Ransome Shaw.

Chapter VI.—To Louise Ordway, his invalid sister-in-law, and firm friend, Laurie admits he is "interested" in Doris, not revealing her identity.

CHAPTER VII.—Doris resolutely declines to meet Mrs. Ordway, and sternly vetoes Laurie's suggestion of applying to the police to protect her from Shaw.

With considerable help Samuel recalled the ditty:

Hey, hey, ve gangsall here,
Whalahaloo we care,
Whalahaloo we care,
Now—wow—wow—WOW—WOW!

"Laurie!"

Sonya spoke with sudden austerity.

"It's a relief from his mental strain," Laurie explained. "Any doctor will tell you that."

In the hos'tl, however, things assumed a different aspect. Still firmly holding Hullen R. J. by the leg, and keeping a steadfast eye on the surgeon, Samuel took in his immediate surroundings with a dawning suspicion in his soul. Having two men throw lights on his face and look down his throat had lost its novelty, though Sonya had assured him that wonderful views were to be seen there which he alone could reveal. Also, the men seemed hurried, and didn't want to look at Hullen R. J's throat, though Samuel warmly recommended this variety in the entertainment.

In short, the situation had become sinister. The smiles around him were dreadful-looking things, all except Laurie's. With an appalling howl Samuel detached himself from the surgeon's grasp and fled to Laurie, who picked him up and held him firmly and comfortably in his lap until a lady in white came with something nice for Samuel to smell.

The next thing Samuel knew was that he was in bed in a strange room. He gulped and discovered that his throat was sore. He sat up, distended his mouth for a yell, and then very slowly closed it.

From every corner of the room familiar figures were hastening to his side. The lady in white, Sonya, and his mother all reached him at the same moment. On the pillow beside him Hullen R. J. awaited the honor of his attention like a perfect lady. No howls from her, as Sonya immediately pointed out. As she thus soothed, Sonya was kissing him. The lady in white was offering him something pleasant to drink. His mother was patting his back.

For a long instant Samuel took in the gratifying fact of these activities. Then he assorted his features, grabbed Hullen R. J., exchanged his yell for a large smile, and permitted himself to be waited on. Deep in his masculine consciousness he had realized that his world was normal again.

Bangs and Laurie walked up Fifth avenue together, stopping at a florist's to purchase the man's entire supply of roses for Mrs. Ordway. Bangs also discovered some masses of poinsettia and and chrysanthemums that, as he said, "looked like her." Laden with these spoils, they took a taxicab to the Ordway house, where they found Jepson exuding an atmosphere of reassurance.

Yessir, Mrs. Hordway seemed better. She 'ad a more restful night, han' Susanne said was quite bright this morning. Hof course she'd see Mr. Devon, hand prob'bly Mr. Bangs, halso. Jepson would harsk at once.

Jepson moved ponderously away to do so, while Rodney, opening his big box in the hall, drew out the poinsettia and chrysanthemums and proceeded to arrange them in a gorgeous armful. Bangs had unexpected taste in color and arrangement, as Epstein's stage directors had discovered in the past. Laurie watched him with polite interest.

"Making a picture of yourself, aren't you?" he asked. "Going into the sick room with your little hands full of flowers?" But even as he scoffed he was unwrapping his own flowers. Bangs was right. The act of handing a pasteboard box to a sick friend lacked esthetic value.

Jepson returned with a cordial message. Mrs. Ordway would be charmed to see both young men, but she received only one visitor at a time. Would Mr. Bangs come up now? And perhaps Mr. Devon would drop in again during the afternoon or evening.

Rodney grasped his floral offerings and mounted the stairs two steps at a time. He was excited and his brown eyes showed it. It was most awfully good of Mrs. Ordway to let him come up in this informal way. Standing by the chaise longue where she lay, he told her so, his auburn head shining among the flowers he carried, like a particularly large chrysanthemum. Then, selecting some empty vases, he sat down on the floor beside her and began to arrange his flowers, while she watched him, at first with surprise, then with growing admiration.

Rodney had no social airs and graces, no parlor tricks. If he had been formally sitting on a chair, holding his hat, he would have been a self-conscious and unhappy young man. As it was, with hands and eyes busy, and wholly at his ease, he talked his exuberant best.

"How about Laurie's romance?" Louise asked at once.

Bangs told her about the vision in the mirror. As he did so, luncheon was served, and he was casually invited to share it. Susanne, moving shuttle-like between the table in the sick room and the dumb-waiter in the upper hall, presently confided to a young footman a surprising piece of news, which he in turn confided to the incredulous Jepson. Young Mr. Bangs, who was lunching with Mrs. Ordway, must be as amusing as young Mr. Devon himself. He had actually made the mistress laugh both times he came. She was laughing now, as Susanne had not heard her laugh for weeks. To be sure, this was one of her good days. But it wasn't easy to amuse Mrs. Ordway at any time.

Jepson summed up the situation in an oracular utterance:

"Henny one that's a friend of Mr. Devon's his hall right."

When Rodney was leaving Jepson's mistress expressed the same thought to her guest in a different way.

"Come often," she said. "You have given me a new interest. I don't think you can quite realize what that means to me."

When Sonya arrived at five that afternoon, she found Jepson still exuding reassurance. With two doctors within call, a nurse in the house, and Mr. Devon and Miss Orieneff to telephone to at a moment's notice, "nothing much could 'appen." So reasoned Jepson. He beamed approvingly on Sonya, informed her that Mr. Devon was in the sick-room now, and waved her through the hall with an effect of benediction.

She found Laurie just leaving, and they had a moment's chat on the upper landing. Mrs. Ordway, he told her, was rather restless this afternoon, but she seemed better than she had been yesterday. However, he didn't like her looks at all, and he fancied the nurse was disturbed. Suppose Sonya sounded Louise about cabling for Warren? Surely Warren would want to know, Laurie thought.

For the moment Laurie's striking good looks were slightly dimmed. He was hollow-eyed, almost haggard. Things were coming just a bit too fast for him. The habit of carrying the burden of others had been taken on too suddenly. Under the strain of it, his untrained mental muscles ached.

It was the irony of fate that Sonya, looking at him with the clear brown eyes that were so much softer than Bangs', and so much less beautiful than Doris', should misinterpret his appearance, his emotion, and his reaction from the high spirits of the morning. He was again going the pace, she decided; and, mingled with her pity for him, rose the scorn of a strong soul that was the absolute master of the body in which it dwelt.

His newly aroused perception carried some hint of this scorn to the boy, covered though it was by the friendliness of Sonya's manner. The knowledge added to his wretchedness. He had a childish desire to explain, but he conquered it and hurried away. Some day, if not now, Sonya would understand.

What he himself did not understand was the long stride he had taken in the moment when he felt and resented her unspoken criticism. Hitherto-fore his attitude had been one of expressed and sincere indifference to the opinions others held of him. He wanted them to like him, but he didn't care a hang whether or not they approved of him. Now, suddenly, he wanted Sonya's respect as well as her liking. The discovery added to his mental confusion.

If Sonya, when she entered the sick-room, was shocked by the change in the appearance of her new friend, she showed no sign of it. Sitting down beside the chaise longue, she entered briskly upon a description of the recent experiences of Samuel. When she left the hospital the house surgeon was obediently endeavoring to look down the throat of Hullen R. J., and every nurse on Samuel's floor was scuttering in and out of his room. Nevertheless the Infant, though graciously accepting these attentions, had demanded and received Sonya's personal assurance that the particular game of the morning was not to be repeated. There was an unpleasant element in that game which grown-ups might not notice but which he, Samuel, had caught on to.

Louise laughed and expressed a hope that Samuel would now be able to breathe without disturbing his neighbors. Sonya came to the real purpose of her visit.

"He and his mother are going back to Devon house Saturday," she said, "but I've got to stay in New York for a few months, on account of my literary galumphings. I wondered if you—if it would be convenient for you—to put me up. I hate hotels and—"

Louise lay silent for a moment. Then she reached out and took Sonya's hand.

"Yes, you unskilled prevaricator," she said. "You may come—and see me through."

Sonya held the hand tightly in her own.

"There's one thing more," she went on, hesitatingly. "Laurie and Mr. Bangs and I wondered if perhaps you wouldn't feel more comfortable if Mr. Warren came home. You know he himself would want to—"

Louise closed her eyes.

"Yes," she said, "Bob would want to, if he knew."

She was silent for so long that Sonya began to think she was not to have the answer to her question. Perhaps Mrs. Ordway was leaving the decision to her.

But to leave to others decisions that concerned herself was not Louise Ordway's habit. Instead, she was fighting a battle in which the lifelong devotion of a supremely self-centered nature was struggling with a new-born unselfishness. Though new-born it was strong, as the invalid's next words showed.

"If I were calling him back from anything but his honeymoon," she said at last, "I'd do it. But he's utterly happy. His letters show that, in every line. I want him to stay so, as long as he can. I want his honeymoon to be long drawn out and perfect." Her manner changed.

"I have an idea that perhaps, after all, I'll be here when he gets back," she added more lightly. "Life still has its interests. But, if I happen not to be here, tell him why I didn't cable."

"I will tell him," Sonya promised.

Neither of them referred to the subject again.

Judge Won't Take Checks for Licenses

Kansas City, Kan., Official Accepts One For $3.50 and Later Finds It Bogus.—Can't Collect.

Kansas City, Kan., Aug. 14.—Judge Henry Meads, of the probate court, who issues marriage licenses, is out just $3.50 and from now on will be leary of accepting checks for marriage licenses.

A bridegroom handed the judge a check for the specified amount to get the license on July 15 and ever since the probate judge has been trying to collect, as he found the check to be bogus.

Considerable correspondence has brought to light that the bridegroom is in Chicago and has written that if the judge will give him a few more days he will make the check good, but up to date Judge Meade has had to make good on the license he issued.

Germans Chart Airway Across North Atlantic

Reykjavik, Iceland.—A German expedition, headed by Doctors Danmeyer and Georie of Hamburg, has arrived here to study meteorological conditions in southern and western Iceland.

It is understood that the expedition has in view a possible establishment of a transatlantic airway from Hamburg to New York by way of Scapa Flow, the Faroe Islands, Iceland and Cape Farewell, Greenland.

THE RELATIONSHIP OF MIND AND BODY

By Right Thinking and Right Living All May Improve Their Health and Lengthen the Number of Their Days.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

We hear a lot about the effect of mind over matter. I wonder just how much the mental condition has to do with the health.

A great many times you will find yourself blue and unhappy and cast down, when your mental state is due largely to the condition of the liver. There is no doubt that indigestion, sluggishness of the intestines, and failure of secretion on the part of the kidneys are factors having a lot to do with the mental state. You cannot be happy and cheerful if your organs are not functioning as they should.

I am perfectly willing to concede, however, that the mental state in its turn has a lot to do with the way you feel. If you get all stirred up and have your emotions excited, the functions of your highly organized sympathetic nervous system will be seriously disturbed. Excitement stimulates the heart and tires that organ. Despair lessens the actions of the heart, and in consequence the cleansing streams of blood are not sent through the system.

Sadness and profound grief destroy the appetite. Without appetite there is a failure to take the nourishing food so essential to health and vigor. All the emotions react in one way or another upon the physical functions.

You can see there is a relationship between mind and body. Everything tending to make you happy will make you feel better physically. You cannot have red cheeks, sparkling eyes, clearness of skin, and firmness of muscle unless your mental processes are what they should be. Happiness is a tonic. It stimulates as wine does. The "grand and glorious feeling" of which we read, is likely to come to one mentally content.

The ideal life to lead is one so well balanced that every day records duty well done, every obligation met, and a consciousness of right conduct and noble aspirations.

If we can add to a mental state such as I have just described, right living with all it means, we have the conditions which certainly add years to every life. The rules of living are simple. Fresh air, sunlight, plenty of good water to drink, simple food, the avoidance of excessive fatigue, abundance of sleep, cleanliness of the body, proper dress—in these we have the secrets of good health.

For myself I do not believe that long life is likely to follow persistent violation of the rules of right living and right thinking. It isn't enough simply to observe physical rules. There are mental and moral rules which must be observed. I have read that "as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." There is no doubt that right thinking has a tremendous part in our lives.

But when I talk about right thinking I include in that term right thinking as regards the physical surroundings and physical conduct. I don't think a man is a good man who is careless of his body. The body is God's temple, and in my opinion the man who neglects God's temple is an irreligious man. Certainly he is not a God-fearing man.

The time will come when we will have a different idea of illness than we have today. We will be ashamed to admit that we are sick. So many of our ailments are the result of our own wrong living that when society becomes thoroughly informed on this subject it will resent illness due to neglect of the common precautions.

By a combination of right thinking and right living we may hope to extend the span of life and to be effective and useful in the advanced years which will come to us.

Answers To Health Queries.

R. C. Q.—Kindly advise me if one can be affected with hay fever in the city of Denver, Colo., as I am going there this Summer and would like to know in advance?

A.—It would be difficult to advise you without knowing the exact cause of your attacks. Why not consult your doctor and have him test you to determine the exact cause of the attacks?

A. E. L. Q.—What can I do for a chapped face?

2.—Is vaseline harmful for the eye lashes?

2.—No. If you want to promote the growth of eyelashes you might use 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment. Apply to the lashes every night.

pears. The Queen has been present at most of the performances and on two occasions threw splendid bouquets to the charming songstress."

Antique Claim Doubted.

In 1847, as now, there were antiques and Mayflower claimants, but the Messenger is skeptic:

"A newspaper states that the editor of the New Haven Journal has in his possession a snuff-box, which was brought to this country by one of the Plymouth settlers in 1620, in the ship Mayflower. There must be some mistake in this, for neither snuff nor snuffboxes were invented so long ago as 1620."

"A returned Pennsylvania volunteer passed up the Ohio river lately, with seven Mexican skulls in his possession. A man of refined taste, that!"

"In a short time the magnetic telegraph will be extended to Halifax, thereby bringing England two days nearer, and enabling us to obtain foreign news in ten days from England."

"The Ocean steamer, The Union, is in her nineteenth, the Sarah Sands in her tenth, and the Caledonia in her ninth day. The two former are bound for New York—the latter for Boston."

"The (New School) General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States has addressed letters to the Churches in Ireland and Scotland, in reply to their remonstrances against the countenance given by it to slavery, stating that it does not deem farther communications on that topic necessary."

Fayette Citizen Mentioned.

"Judge Leland, a distinguished citizen of Fayette, Mo., died suddenly on the 12th."

"Ship fever prevails in St. Louis, Mo., as it does in all our Atlantic cities. In the City Hospital, at the last dates, there were forty-eight cases."

"The Supreme Court of Indiana have decided that the Black Laws of that State, making it a crime for any mulatto or negro person to emigrate to, and settle within that State, without giving bonds, are unconstitutional."

"It is stated that on the borders of Lake Michigan, there are now in store, ready for transportation, a million bushels of breadstuffs. It is estimated that the means of transportation will not clear out the old stock before the new comes in."

Of interest to women is this:

"The Ladies, emulous of the fame of the secret orders of the men, have, within a few years past, got up one of their own, which they call the 'United Daughters of America,' and another called the 'United Daughters of Temperance.' As they are both UNITED, how can they be separated orders? Again, we suppose the members are all married, for are they not UNITED Daughters?"

And the following gem appears at another place in the paper."

"The beautiful flowers unfold their fragrant leaves to catch the pearly drops from Heaven. A modest woman opens her lips only to let fall precious pearls; the brightness of which ascends to Heaven."

Boy Held for Ransom Escapes From Brigands

Harbin.—Leonid Michkoff, the 15-year-old son of a wealthy Harbin merchant who was kidnapped by Chinese brigands, managed to escape and has returned home safely after 17 days of captivity. The boy was kidnapped from his father's villa at Erchendsiandzy, a summer resort on the Chinese Eastern Railway, and at first a $2,000,000 ransom was demanded.

Being pressed by troops and police the brigands kept constantly on the move but without interrupting negotiations. They gradually came down on their price and finally were willing to accept $10,000, but at this time the boy managed his escape. He returned healthy and sunburnt and carrying in his arms a small deer fawn which he found on his way through the forest.

Civil War Nurses Plan to Attend G. A. R. Meet

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 14.—Four or five gray-haired women, whose deeds of mercy in aiding Yankee soldiers will never be forgotten, will represent the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War at its anual convention to be held here Sept. 19 to 24, in conjunction with the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

This small band, the last survivors of Civil War army nurses, were only five strong at the annual reunion of their national association at Grand Rapids, Michigan, last summer. Those able of the fifty still on the official roster will visit Des Moines this summer according to Alice Cary Risley of Columbia, Mo., who has been national president for the past eleven years.

LEGAL NOTICES 51

(1st insertion July 29, last August 17).
NOTICE OF SELECTION OF DEPOSITORY FOR SCHOOL FUNDS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MARYVILLE, MISSOURI.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of the School District of Maryville, Missouri, will receive sealed bids from such banks and banking corporations as may desire to be selected as depositories of the funds of the district. Bids will be received until noon of the 19th day of August, 1926. The funds of the district will be divided into three equal parts, and the bidder will state how many parts it desires. The depository or depositories selected will pay interest to the district, computed on daily balances, for all funds of the district deposited with it, and the bidder will state the highest rate of interest it will pay.

Bond for the protection of the funds deposited in the selected depository will be required under the provisions of Section 9585 R. S. 1919. Proposals may be left with the secretary of the board at his office in the Court House.

Done by order of the board.
L. C. COOK, President.
GEO. P. WRIGHT, Secretary.

Conductor Stops Train to Hunt False Teeth

Alliance, Neb., Aug. 14.—When Burlington passenger train No. 43 arrived here several minutes late, Conductor William Zollinger handed in the following report of the delay at divisional headquarters:

"Ten minutes delay looking for false teeth."

Zollinger's false teeth fell out of a window when he sneezed. Stopping the train by a sudden jerk of the air cord, Zollinger searched 10 minutes in vain for the lost molars.

50 Killed in Riot Near Church

Fifty people are said to have been killed in riots centering about this church, the church of San Francisco, in Guadalajara, Mexico. The riots broke out, it is reported, when Mexico's anti-church laws were put into effect.

American Woman Swims Channel Nightly in Her Dreams During Training Period

Deal, Eng.—Mrs. Clemington Carson of New York is swimming the Channel each night in her dreams.

She is waiting for a chance to try the perilous long-distance swim from England to France, but her imagination already has put her successfully across many times. Experts on the spot declare her chances of completing the swim are as good as any of the women swimmers training for the test.

"In my sleep," Mrs. Carson said, "I keep dreaming of swimming your Channel. My dreams, of which I have had many, are so remarkably realistic that I actually see myself doing the swim sure enough and walking out of the water and up the sandy shore at the other end."

Her two children, Clem, aged three and a half years, and Marjorie, aged two, appear in her dreams, she said, and seem to beckon her on. She looks upon her dreams as a good omen.

Mrs. Carson's speed in practice swims is increasing, her trainer said, and her swiming style is improving rapidly.

Says Filipinos Are Friendly to America

Break Between General Leonard Wood And Insular Legislature Does Not Mean Hostility to U. S.

Manila, Aug. 14.—Intimating that the breach between Governor General Leonard Wood and the Philippines legislature is irreparable, Manuel Quezon, as president of the senate, issued a statement today setting forth the attitude of the Filipinos toward the United States:

The existing deadlock between the legislature and executive branches of the insular government is unfortunate but not the fault of the Filipinos, Quezon said. He declared it will continue as long as mutual confidence is lacking between these branches.

Loyalty and friendliness to President Coolidge and the American people has been demonstrated by the warmth of the welcome to the president's representative, Col. Carmi Thompson, the statement says and the Filipinos are as eager as President Coolidge to further economic development. People of the island are eager and willing to provide America's rubber and other commodities, the statement continues, but this must be done without exploitation and within the limitation of the land laws. Filipinos do not feel that it is necessary to amend the land laws.

Quezon personally will always oppose any backward movement from autonomy, the statement declared.

The statement which Quezon said was made to clarify the situation in the minds of the American people, was accompanied by a letter complaining at news dispatches sent to American papers by some of the visiting correspondents.

Deaf Mutes Revise Their Sign Language

Washington, Aug. 14.—Deaf mutes have been compelled to revise their sign language to express such modern words as wet, dry, flapper, sheik and Charleston, it was revealed today at the fifteenth triennial convention of the National Association of the Deaf.

A tap on the hip with the left hand is the deaf mutes new "word" describing the hip flask, according to the Rev. H. J. Pulver, of Washington, spokesman for the convention.

Flapper is expressed by waving both hands near the shoulders.

The deaf mute carresses an imaginary sideburn to mean sheik. The Charleston is indicated by performing the dance by the first finger on each hand.

Americans Lose Money by Doped Cigarettes

Paris.—Tourists from the American boats arriving at Cherbourg and Havre and taking the train for Paris have reported to the police several times in the last month that a gang of confidence men have been reaping a big harvest by means of doped cigarettes handed to the victim by a benevolent looking man casually met with in the station or on the train.

The crook usually waits until he spots a man travelling alone, strikes up a conversation and offers the cigarette. If the newcomer is over for the first time it is easy to talk to him about what he should see in the gay capital. If he accepts the smoke conversation becomes hazy, the tourist gets dizzy and gradually his senses leave him. When he is awakened at Paris—boat trains come through without a stop—he is is without his roll and often without his passport.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Corn lost the influence it has exerted over the local grain prices when it closed lower in all positions on the Chicago Board of Trade while wheat was sharply higher and oats were unchanged.

Wheat closed near the day's high, being 1½ cents over yesterday's close in all deliveries.

Corn broke sharply early in the session but staged a good rally on short covering. The closing range was ¼ to ¾ under yesterday's final figures.

There was considerable liquidation in the oats pit following yesterday's movement. Prices showed no change from the previous close. Cash values were about ¼ off.

Provisions closed about 15 cents lower.

Stadium Committee Now Making Plans

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 14.—The committee in charge of distribution of football seats for the new Memorial Stadium which will be opened for the first time for the Missouri-Tulane game on October 2, and which will be formally dedicated at Homecoming on November 20 has already made general plans to care for the applications.

Application blanks and information regarding the distribution of tickets will be sent out Sept. 1 to all of the 37,000 alumni and former students of the University. This material will include cuts showing the stadium and the seating arrangement.

The stadium will be divided into four sections, according to present plans. The first section will be for the local university family, students, faculty, and townspeople. The second will be for subscribers, facul to the Memorial stadium. The other two sections will be reserved for the general alumni list and for the general public.

Details of seating and ticket sale will be announced later.

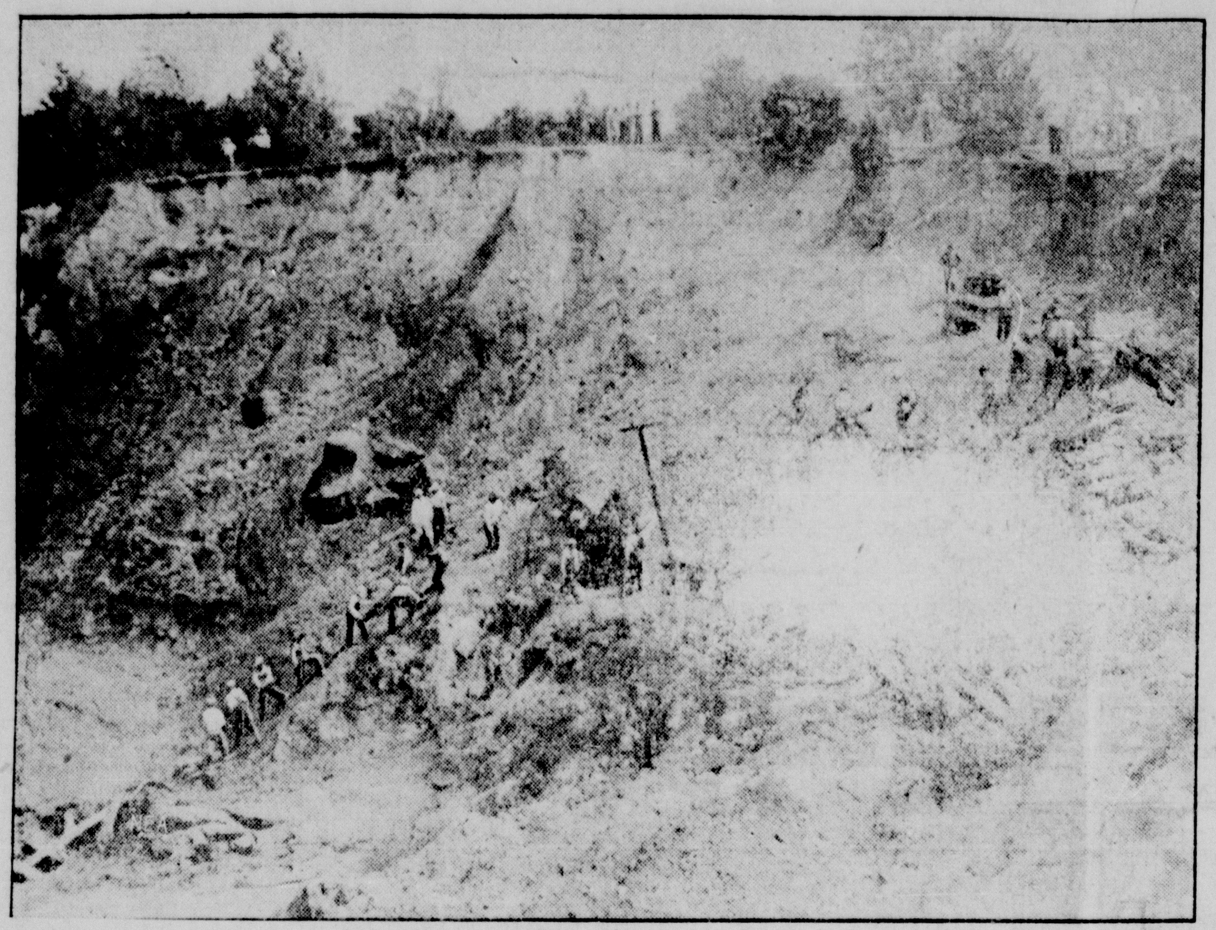
First Pictures of Kentucky Mine Rescue



This shows the great crater surrounding the shaft of the American Zinc and Fluorspar Company's mine at Salem, Ky., where five workmen were rescued after being imprisoned underground, without food or water, for a week by a slide of earth and water. The crater, shown here, was scooped out years ago by surface mining and was abandoned when underground shaftes were sunk. Mud and water slid to the bottom of the crater and caved through into the mine below. Rescue workers are shown lowering a cable through to the shaft for the imprisoned men. It was through this old shaft that Freeman Cobb of the rescue party crawled and led the imprisoned miners to safety.

These two miners had the narrowest of escapes from the cave-in at the American Zinc and Fluorspar Company's mine at Salem, Ky. They heard the sound of rushing waters just in time and fled through the main shaft just before the avalanche engulfed the tunnels. Then, reaching the surface, they joined the rescue crews and worked with the others for a week until the five men entombed below could be rescued. They are Hugh Wiggins (left) and Alton Grissom.

Two Deals Made in Maryville Property

W. H. Kramer has sold his seven-room house at South Market and Grant streets to Mrs. Clara Hilsabeck. The property includes two lots, and the consideration was $2,300.

C. B. Yeo has sold a five-room cottage at 210 South Mulberry street to Richard Nichols for $1,850. Both deals were made by Yeo Brothers.

O. R. Proctor of Conception Junction was in Maryville on business yesterday.

Woman Sets Clothing on Fire After Quarrel

St. Joseph, Aug. 14.—As a climax to a bitter family quarrel, Mrs. Charles Amos, 25 years old, poured coal oil on her clothing and then set fire to herself at her home here today. Prompt action by her husband in tearing the clothing from her body saved her life, although she was badly burned.

Miss Dorothy Glenn of St. Joseph will come tomorrow night to visit Miss Virginia Larmer for a few days.

Merchants to Meet Nine From Pickering

Fast Game Expected Tomorrow At Fairgrounds Diamond.—Buhler And Thorburn To Be Pitchers.

The Maryville Merchants will have a tough nut to crack tomorrow when they meet the Pickering baseball team at the Fairgrounds at 2:30 o'clock.

Weeds Replaced With Flowers at City Water Plant

How a civic eyesore can be transformed into a beauty spot has been illustrated this summer at the Maryville city waterworks.

In past years, the grounds surrounding the pumping plant, at the bank of the 102 river, frequently have been overgrown with weeds, lending an air of general decrepitude to the entire plant. This year conditions are much different.

The lawn surrounding the buildings has been kept neatly mowed. Flowers line the walks and there are several beds of other flowers, effectively arranged. Gladioli, zinnias, nasturtiums, scabiosa and many other blooms have been used. A canna bed has been declared by several flower lovers to be unrivaled by any in Maryville.

The seeds and bulbs for the various flowers were obtained from different sources. Some of them came from as far away as Virginia.

The beautifying has been done by Carl Kissinger, engineer at the pumping plant, assisted by Mrs. Kissinger, J. W. Qualls, superintendent of the water system and Mayor W. O. Garrett.

Mrs. Lafayette Moore of Laclede arrived last night for a several days' visit with her daughter, Mrs. William Van Cleve, and Mr. Van Cleve.

These new-type Willys-Knight cars offer

7 Major Principles of European Design

Why this new "70" Willys-Knight Six has stepped into first place in sales in the shortest time on record

$1495 F. O. B. factory — For This DeLuxe Knight Motored 4-Door Sedan

Speed between 60 and 70 honest miles an hour.
Extraordinarily long sustained high speed.
Power on any hill to pass most cars in high.
Quick as a cat—5 to 25 miles in 7½ seconds.
Powerful four-wheel mechanical brakes, the last word in safety.
54 horsepower, long stroke motor, rated at 20.
The tax saving is only part of its economy.

WHEN the new "70" Willys-Knight Six was first announced 7 months ago, we told you that here was a new-era car . . . modernly designed, modernly engineered . . .

That it would out-perform anything that had ever been built of its size or type or price-class.

We told you it was the liveliest car of its price ever built . . .

That it presented an order of efficiency and economy all its own.

We told you about its European-type mechanical 4-wheel brakes—the same type of braking system you find on 97% of foreign cars—that would give you a new conception of quick stopping.

We told you that, with more compact external dimensions, the new "70" Willys-Knight Six provided more inside room than any other car of its wheelbase you had ever driven.

That was 7 months ago.

What happened in the interval?

In the first thirty days, the new "70" Willys-Knight Six was the talk of America.

A new order of performance had come . . .

Modern engineering had provided a new sensation for the jaded motoring palate.

Within 60 days the new "70" Willys-Knight Six had swept this country from one end to the other . . .

It had arrived . . .

It was a proven proposition . . . It had more than lived up to every claim we had made for it.

From the start, the news spread like wildfire. Sales were tremendous.

One owner told another.

The story spread.

The new "70" Willys-Knight Six has become the fastest-selling new Six in its price class.

And each week sees it increasing its lead at the liveliest clip on record.

This "70" Willys-Knight Six combined with the Willys-Knight Great Six, the famous Overland Six and the new Overland Whippet just announced last month comprise the complete line of Willys-Overland modern quality automobiles.

You owe it to yourself to see these new-type cars.

The new Willys Finance Plan means less money down, smaller monthly payments and the lowest credit-cost . . . Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.
